U.S. Plans To Launch 'Satellites'

Man-Made 'Moon' Would Circle Earth 2 to 3 Hundred Miles Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today approved plans for building and launching the world's first man-made satellites.

They would be the size of basketballs and carry only instruments for collecting scientific information.

Tension Grows As Crisis Brews In Argentina

Admiral Reported Sentenced to Die

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—A new Argentine crisis seemed to be brewing today after unconfirmed reports spread through the capital that Admiral Samuel Toranzo Calderon had been sentenced to death for leading the anti-Peronist revolt of June 16.

Reports said a military tribunal also sentenced the former navy minister, Rear-Admiral Anibal Oliveri, and other revolutionary leaders to life imprisonment for taking part in the bloody uprising, in which more than 2,000 civilians were killed and wounded.

MAY CAUSE NEW CRISIS

Observers here said that if the reported death sentence of Calderon is confirmed and eventually carried out, it will give rise to a new crisis in the tension that has reigned in Argentina since June 16.

Another bomb exploded Thursday in Cordoba City, the Catholic stronghold where police have recently been disbanding both Peronist and anti-Peronist demonstrations. The blast caused considerable damage to a Peronist party branch office, but there were no casualties.

Israel Team Barred From Crash Scene

ATHENS, Greece (UPI)—The Israeli charge d'affaires in Sofia, capital of Communist Bulgaria, today visited the scene of the crash of an El Al (Israel) airliner in which 58 persons died when the plane was shot down by Bulgarian anti-aircraft guns.

But Bulgarian frontier guards stubbornly barred an official Israeli investigation team from entering the crash area from nearby Greece.

Three and possibly four of the victims were Canadians, and 13 were Americans. Canada has demanded full details of the crash and the United States and Britain were reported preparing their own protests.

Authorities here said no reports have yet been received from the Israeli diplomat who was permitted to go to the scene of Wednesday's disaster.

Air authorities in London predicted international anger resulting from the incident may force Russia and her satellites to join in a new international agreement to forestall such needless loss of life in the future.

McEWEN BACKS DOWN

Doesn't Want To Involve Others In Allegations

City mayorality candidate Elmer McEwen, who startled Victoria with allegations Thursday of corruption in city police administration, said today he will not provide specific information to back up his statements.

"What information I have is already known to the police commission," he told the Times.

It was reported earlier that he was ready to give the police commission information about illegal pinball machines and bookmaking operations here.

"It is not my intention to hurt or slander anyone nor to get cheap publicity. I can't possibly give information regarding the officer (who said he was told to 'lay off' certain illegal operations)."

INVOLVES OTHERS

He said that the information he had received of protection pay-off to police by a city Chinese "involves other people. It is better not to involve them."

He said his concern was still as great for youngsters who are playing pin-ball machines and receiving money for wins.

"They aren't old enough to know what they are doing. It could lead to stealing and other delinquencies."

"The people who play the bookies are old enough to know what they are doing. It's up to them."

He said he had not yet prepared an answer to a letter reported to have been sent to him by the Victoria police commission following a meeting Thursday.

NOT MISQUOTED

The letter allegedly asked him whether he was responsible for newspaper quotes attributed to him. He told reporters he did not intend to say he was misquoted.

He knows the location of six or seven bookmakers and of pinball machines which are allegedly paying off, he added. But, he said, the commission already has that information.

His outburst caused indignation among members of the force and the police commission. Mayor Claude Harrison, chairman of the commission, declared that if Mr. McEwen had any proof, he should bring it forward.

"Anyone who knows of an indictable offence such as bribery among officers is himself guilty if he doesn't bring it before the crown," the mayor said.

TOLD WORLD HEATING UP WEATHERMAN SAYS 'OH'

TOKYO (AP)—A sweltering world got a bad news prediction today from a Japanese scientist. Dr. Hideo Nishio, science instructor at Tokyo's Kei University, said world temperatures will get hotter every year for the next 250 years.

His prediction was based on his theory that general climatic changes occur in 700-year cycles and that the world now is in a temperature-climbing period.

Victoria's weatherman Bill Mackie, who has been piloting Victoria through a not-so-heat-wave summer, was asked to comment on the above dispatch. His comment: "Oh?"

Saanich Hides Track Petition Mayor Charges

Plea by 1,500 Property Owners Favoring Site Claimed Ignored

A petition said to contain close to 1,500 names of property holders in Saanich supporting a race track at Beaver Lake is being "hidden" by Saanich council, it was charged at Victoria City Hall today.

Mayor Claude Harrison and Alderman Geoffrey Edgell told the Times the petition was presented to Saanich clerk John Tribe "about six weeks ago." It was presented by Don Carley, proprietor of Victoria Riding Academy.

The mayor and alderman said they were told by Saanich Municipal Hall that the petition was

Follow Minority Says Mayor

"They won't follow a majority but they'll follow a minority," he added.

The disclosure followed a stormy meeting on the race track at City Hall Thursday by the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee.

The committee, comprised of four city and four Saanich representatives, were to discuss a recent proposal of the Vancouver track builders, Island Turf Ltd.

Saanich had balked at earlier proposals after the city had drawn a tentative agreement to permit the $500,000 track and fair construction on the Beaver-Elk watershed. The land is owned by the city, although it lies completely in Saanich.

Ald. Smith's Motion Thrown Out

The committee threw out a motion by Ald. Smith that they recommend to both councils a plebiscite asking whether residents favored a race track, a park and a Class A fair.

He said the people would settle the controversy once and for all. The mayor said the discussion was absolutely useless as the committee had power only to regulate the use of the Beaver-Elk Lake park. The motion was lost. Then the mayor moved that Island Turf be granted a lease on the terms the firm suggested.

The motion was lost. The committee could not even agree on adjournment and four motions to adjourn were made before the meeting broke up after two hours of wrangling and no decisions reached.

U.S. Senate Praises Churchill

WASHINGTON—The Senate Thursday officially praised Sir Winston Churchill for his "outstanding contribution" to the cause of freedom and world peace.

By voice vote, the Senate passed unanimously a resolution expressing "high appreciation of the outstanding contribution this truly great statesman has made to the cause of freedom and his tireless efforts in behalf of world peace."

The proposal was submitted by Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) and was sponsored by 51 other senators.

It also expresses the Senate's "profound hope" that the recently-retired British prime minister "may be spared for many more years of useful and honorable service."

A copy of the resolution will be sent to Churchill.

CROSSWORD JUMPS TO $325

It's Dope, Not Dose, Doze, Dole or Dome

CHOU EN-LAI

Direct talks between Prime Minister Chou En-Lai, of Communist China, and Nationalist leader Gen. Chiang Kai-shek may be in the making, it was reported today from New Delhi, India. Reports said it is believed the two leaders could find a formula to settle the Formosa question.

The U.S. better be careful how high up in the stratosphere they send them satellites. It might bump into the 'cost o' livin'.

This is quite a democracy. We not only have the secret ballot, 'pears we have a secret petition, too.

Man in Japan sez world temperatures are gettin' hotter. Well, the heat's sure on in Vancouver.

Reporter Gave Him 'Suicide or Jail' Choice Policeman Says

By LARRY STANWOOD, Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—A dramatic interview with Ray Munro, western representative of the Toronto tabloid Flash, was recounted today by Det.-Sgt. Len Cuthbert at the Tupper Royal Commission.

"You're stuck Len, you're in bad trouble," he said Munro told him during the interview at the police officer's modest home.

Munro, he said, balanced a black automatic in the palm of his hand throughout the interview.

Cuthbert, taking the stand for the second day, said Munro told him he had three choices: "I could either blow my brains out..."

At this point he was interrupted by his counsel, H. A. D. Oliver, who asked: "Did he use an adjective?"

"...he said 'you can either blow your bloody brains out or you can go to jail or you can see the right party now.' I asked him who he meant."

"You should know," he said. Just prior to adjournment, Sgt. Cuthbert spoke of a demand for a cut in the payoff money made, he said, by Insp. Jack Horton on behalf of him.

Reporter Held Gun; Made No Move

Cuthbert said that during the interview with Munro the reporter had the gun "sufficiently far away..."

"He didn't make any move, and I didn't. Anyway he knew I had a gun of my own."

Munro, said the witness, reminded him of the "1949 affairs," meaning the payoffs.

"He said he was working for Flash, a Vancouver newspaper—I believe he said the Province—and working for the attorney-general."

Later in the interview, Munro suggested that Cuthbert see the reporter's lawyer "and make out an affidavit if you wish."

"He said the lawyer, Neil Fleishman, was working with him for the attorney-general. It had to be done within an hour."

Mr. Fleishman is counsel for Munro and former detective Jack Whelan.

"What effect did Mr. Munro's actions and words have on you," asked Mr. Oliver.

"I was quite upsetting," replied Cuthbert.

"Before he left Mr. Munro said 'Len, don't be a fool, this is your chance, your last chance.'"

Munro invited Cuthbert to the downtown office of Flash in Vancouver to sign an affidavit, but he didn't accept.

"He told me he planned to fly was coming to Vancouver the following day. "I refused to go and see McMorran and took my wife to a show instead."

"I did a lot of thinking. Cuthbert told of a meeting he had with Supt. Whelan shortly before he shot himself.

"He placed before me two sheets of foolscap paper and asked me to read them and sign."

He signed the papers, and then returned to his office.

"Then I waited until the parade room was clear. I shot myself."

No Longer Time for Delay

He said he had received a telephone call from Supt. Harry Whelan on the evening of June 23 and Whelan told Cuthbert he had a long talk with prosecutor Stewart McMorran and there was no longer any time for a delay in the case.

Cuthbert said Supt. Whelan told him he must declare what side he was going to take.

"He almost insisted that I should get myself dressed and he would pick me up and we would go and see the prosecutor."

"He said the attorney-general

THESE THINGS HAPPENED

Inebriated Chickens
Just Stool Pigeons

DETROIT (AP) — Tipsy chickens were a tipoff that Ivan Vincent's henhouse contained something besides poultry.

When police raided Vincent's poultry farm in Nankin township they found a 275-gallon still in the henhouse. Police said 200 chickens were staggering around the henhouse.

Vincent, 38, was held on charges of violating federal liquor laws.

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Mariam Vorrusch was granted a divorce from her husband George by circuit judge Thomas Maher when she testified:

'Chief' Howe
Taking Bow

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — An Indian tribe which measured a man's prestige by the number of horses he owned is handing out honors today for a Canadian cabinet minister's contribution to aviation.

Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe is being initiated into the honorary Kanaik chieftainship of the 2,300-member Blood tribe in a ceremony on the buffalo grass of southern Alberta foothills 30 miles west of here.

1. George removed a main tube in their television set so she could not watch it while he was at work.

2. George would not permit friends to visit, or allow furniture to be moved, because he did not want the rugs worn out.

VANCOUVER (CP) — If the shoe fits.

Three Vancouver reporters found themselves in a "hot" spot while covering the royal commission police hearings Thursday.

The reporters, unable to find room at the crowded press table, seated themselves in the prisoner's box.

"If they feel they are in an appropriate place, they are welcome to stay there," an official observed.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Fifty policemen raced to Allegheny county jail Thursday after a flood of calls from nearby buildings reporting an attempted escape.

The officers saw a man on the roof lowering a rope. A jail official, asked if he knew anyone was on the roof, said: "Yeah, there are four guys up there, but they won't get out until 4 p.m. when they quit work."

The four were repairing the roof.

Atomic Guns
In Far East
Upset Japan

U.S. Charged With Secret Plans

TOKYO (AP) — The arrival of six United States Army atomic cannon at Okinawa roused political fire today in Japan's Diet (Parliament).

Under critical opposition questioning, Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama said the U.S. had not informed Japan the atomic guns and rockets were being sent to the Far East for the first time.

"Since this issue is very important," said Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu, "we have immediately asked for official confirmation."

The government's attitude will be decided by the reply. The Diet questioning, in which ex-premier Shigeru Yoshida, beaten by Hatoyama in last fall's elections, participated, followed a Washington announcement that a six-gun battalion of 280-mm atomic cannon and a battery of long-range 726-mm bombardment rockets were being assigned in the Far East.

HONEST JOHNS ALSO

At Okinawa, biggest U.S. Far East base, an army spokesman said the atomic guns had arrived there with a field artillery battalion and would be unloaded Saturday and Sunday.

There was no word on where another artillery battalion equipped with 726-mm. "Honest John" rockets would be stationed. The army's Washington announcement said it was going to the Far East.

The army emphasized that both the cannon and the rocket can use either conventional or atomic warheads.

Prairie Flood Relief
On Scale of 'Hazel'

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated Thursday federal assistance to those hit by last spring's floods in Manitoba and Saskatchewan will be based on the aid given in last year's hurricane Hazel disaster which struck the Toronto district.

He said it has been decided to send an official of the finance department to the Prairies to investigate cases there similar to those involved in hurricane Hazel. Mr. St. Laurent said that in the Ontario disaster federal help was given only in cases of damage to buildings, with private organizations giving relief for personal losses.

LATE
SPORT

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — Art Jones will enter his racing boat Restless III in the Gold Cup races at Seattle next week.

Prior to attending the sea fair, Jones will enter the Oroville boat races at the south Okanagan town this weekend. Gordon Finch, who has been piloting the slim craft around waters in the Pacific northwest for the last two years, will be at the controls.

Immediately following the Gold Cup races, Restless will be brought back to this Okanagan valley centre to compete in the 49th annual regatta.

MILAN (UP) — Fausto Gardini of Italy defeated Sven Davidson of Sweden, 6-4, 0-6, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3, today in the first singles match of the European zone Davis Cup tennis final.

The match lasted two hours and 20 minutes.

BARBARA ANN ENGAGED

TORONTO (BUP) — A formal engagement announcement today was expected to be made next week for figure skater Barbara Ann Scott and the publicity director Tom King of the ice show in which she is a star.

Barbara Ann, now 29, met King, 31, three years ago when she joined the Hollywood Ice Review, one of the Arthur Wirtz Enterprises.

U.S. Warns Yugoslavs
On Constructing MiGs

BELGRADE (AP) — The United States is reported to have warned Yugoslavia that construction of Soviet MIG fighter planes here might seriously affect U.S. aid to President Tito's government.

Officials would not comment by the report. Rumors that Russia has expressed willingness to supply Yugoslavia's aviation industry with a licence to build MIGs have circulated here recently.

The rumors could not be confirmed, but Riddleberger's warning was reported to have come just before a foreign policy speech this week by Tito. The president said a disagreement existed between the U.S. and Yugoslavia over American rights to inspect his forces' arms, but would not agree to a check on Yugoslav-made arms.

Record Entry List
For PNE Exhibits

VANCOUVER (CP) — Accommodation for entries for the 45th Pacific National Exhibition has already reached the saturation point.

Heads of the livestock, poultry, dog and cat manufacturers and fur breeders committees said Thursday they are afraid they may have to turn entries away.

PNE officials said they expect 900,000 persons at the show, Aug. 24-Sept. 5.

Eden Reports To Churchill On Geneva

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill went back today to his old official home, 10 Downing Street, to lunch with Sir Anthony Eden and hear from him the inside story of the Geneva Big Four conference.

The biggest crowd in Whitehall and the approaches to Downing Street since last May's general election cheered him on his arrival.

One of the new prime minister's last acts before he left for the four-power talks was to call on Churchill and listen for an hour to the impressions and guidance of the man who for so long had urged the desirability of a top-level meeting between East and West.

Churchill's retirement from the premiership April 5 in deference to his age cheated him of what he called "the last prize" he sought from life—the chance to make one more personal contribution to peace.

MAY TALK WITH RUSSIANS

But events may give him one more opportunity. When Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, Soviet prime minister, and Nikita Khrushchev, Communist party secretary, visit Britain next spring, Churchill hopes to revive memories of his war-leadership days in personal contact with the Soviet leaders.

Since his resignation, the veteran statesman has not broken silence in the House of Commons with a speech as an ordinary backbencher. But parliamentarians firmly believe that when they return from their summer vacation they will see and hear more of him.

Crash Kills 4 in Family

LANCASTER, Ont. (CP)—Four members of a Montreal family were killed Thursday night when their car collided almost head-on with an empty automobile transport truck on No. 2 highway a mile east of here.

Dead are Herman Bogler, 32; his wife, Eva, 28, and daughters Judy, 8, and Barbara Anne, 18 months.

The east bound car was in collision with a truck driven by Ralph Denison, 39, of Nanawee, Ont. He was unhurt.

Rain-drenched government and civic officials spoke at ceremonies marking opening of Victoria's new Island Highway outlet Thursday. Road provides a fast, scenic entrance to B.C.'s capital city. It was built at a cost of about $3,000,000, is 10 miles long. On speaker's platform at Goldstream intersection of old and new roads are, from left, Mayor Claude Harrison, Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, Premier W. A. C. Bennett, Chamber of Commerce president Stuart Keate, publisher of the Times, and Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi, at microphone.

150-Car Cavalcade Christens New Highway Outlet in Rain

An RCMP traffic car with red flasher lights blinking was the first car to travel Victoria's new Island Highway outlet Thursday following the official opening at Goldstream.

The RCMP vehicle, accompanied by a motorcycle escort, led a cavalcade of more than 150 cars carrying government and civic officials, and spectators who braved the rain to attend the ceremony.

The 10-mile long, $3,000,000 road link was declared open by Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, who cut a ribbon with scissors handed him by W. E. Stewart, who laid out the road as location engineer for the government in 1947-48.

SPECTACULAR END

Chamber of Commerce president Stuart Keate, publisher of The Times, opened the ceremonies. He said the new outlet, and the rest of the Nanaimo-Victoria highway "will one day provide a really spectacular finish to the Trans-Canada Highway."

Victoria Mayor Claude Harrison termed the outlet "another job well done—we are finding that all over the province now."

Victoria appreciates this," he said.

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi gave credit to departmental officials and engineers. Greater Victoria area MLA's, and heads of the contracting firms which worked on the road.

Moslems Ambush Troops, Kill 8

BANDUNG, Indonesia (AP)—Moslem rebels belonging to the Darul Islam sect ambushed an Indonesian army patrol Thursday near Tjiamis, 60 miles south of Bandung, and killed eight soldiers. Police said the rebels plundered and burned 46 houses in two villages in the areas.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett said the Island Highway outlet is "symbolic of what is happening throughout the length and breadth of the province. "We must have good highways," said the premier.

He said they are necessary if B.C. is to take advantage of the U.S. tourist trade. Following close behind the RCMP car as the long line of traffic moved out on the new road was the official B.C. government limousine, carrying Premier and Mrs. Bennett and Mr. Gagliardi.

Also on hand for the opening were Social Credit MLA's Mrs. Lydia Arsens, John Tisdalle and Herbert Bruch.

Mine-Smelter Union Faces Charge in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorney-General Brownell Thursday filed a formal charge that the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' Union, with headquarters at Denver, Colo., is under domination of Communists.

The complaint was brought before the subversive activities control board. It marked the first use of provisions of the 1954 Communist Control Act, under which alleged Red domination of unions or business organizations may be prosecuted before that board.

A finding by the board upholding Brownell's complaint would deprive the union of the services of the National Labor Relations Board and other rights.

The proceeding against Mine-Mill estimated its membership at between 60,000 and 80,000 including a substantial number in Canada.

The union was expelled from the CIO in February, 1950, on grounds that its policies were consistently directed toward achieving the purposes of the Communist party in the United States.

The Session

THE CANADIAN PARLIAMENT'S annual session, now finished, was more notable for its length than its legislation. But its true consequences are not written in Hansard or the statute books. They will appear later on in the politics of the nation.

The first consequence is to assure stable government from now until next election, two years hence, and probably to assure another Liberal majority. For by long odds the most important event in the session was Mr. St. Laurent's announcement that he intends to remain at the head of the government and seek his third mandate from the people.

Unless the political climate changes drastically by 1957, the Prime Minister's solid hold on Quebec and his unequalled prestige in the rest of the country should re-elect his party against any visible alternative.

What caused Mr. St. Laurent to abandon his well-known hope of retirement and a leisurely old age after a strenuous life is unknown. At all events, his decision to remain in politics indefinitely guarantees the nation a continuation of his policies and his unchallengeable leadership at least until the next poll and perhaps for some years longer. The Liberal Party's problem of succession is postponed and all the current speculation on that score is now irrelevant.

On the other hand, the session brought the Conservative Opposition suddenly to life with a great improvement in the whole parliamentary system. For the first time in many years the Opposition actually reversed Government policy in the House of Commons on the issue of Mr. Howe's defence powers. And this was good for the Government's soul.

Mr. St. Laurent had made a serious blunder in asking certain powers for his lieutenant, without time limit. He had found both Parliament and public angry at this affront to the constitution and, to his credit, he admitted his error and repaired it. The same error, we may be sure, will not be repeated.

Mr. Drew also is entitled to the public's appreciation for his stubborn and successful fight against an unsound piece of legislation, certain to establish a dangerous precedent. No doubt he was playing politics and hoping for partisan gains but his long filibuster, though criticized in some quarters, was well justified and was, indeed, his only available weapon.

The Opposition, long ineffective, will be encouraged by this success and the Government, perhaps too comfortable in recent years, will take its unexpected lesson to heart.

The most significant business of the session was Mr. Harris' first budget since it represented the Government's judgment of the economic future. The new finance minister took a more optimistic view of the national prospects last spring than many economists were prepared to take. He reduced taxes and counted on an unprecedented national income. By midsummer his spring optimism had been largely justified and by autumn should be completely confirmed if the prairies enjoy a normal crop.

But the budget and most of the year's legislation hardly touched the real problems of government, for they are pending between Ottawa and the provinces. While managing the session's business the cabinet was preparing for the vital federal-provincial conference of October, knowing that it will involve not only taxes but the relations between the two great Canadian races.

When Parliament meets again the results of the autumn agreement, or lack of agreement, may well provide political issues of the highest importance. Meanwhile it is a fortunate nation which finds its economic affairs in good order and its public business directed, without crisis or disruption, in a dull, routine but useful session.

A Fine Stretch of Highway

THE NEW ISLAND HIGHWAY outlet—the western terminal of the Trans-Canada Highway jointly and equally financed by the province and the Federal Government—has been opened and Mr. Gagliardi, members of his public works department staff and the contractors deserve this community's thanks.

Mr. Gagliardi is to be congratulated on a fine stretch of road, an avenue for safe, fast travel to and from the city, and for the determination he has expressed to preserve the earlier administration's ban on ribbon development. He has carried out this road planning well and he is making substantial progress on the improvement of the Malahat.

There is still a problem to be solved at the Burnside intersection, where accidents and one fatality have already occurred. Doubtless it will receive immediate attention.

Britain's Tightened Belt

WHEN THE EDEN GOVERNMENT suddenly is compelled to tackle the old problem of inflation again, it is condemned by the Labor Party for its mismanagement of the national economy. Actually, the fact that inflationary pressure has reappeared is the best proof of Britain's amazing, almost incredible recovery in the last four years.

The nation has thriven so well, after its postwar poverty, that its people are living better than ever before and, in their prosperity, have begun to demand more goods than their economy can produce. Mr. Butler's mild deflationary policies are needed to temper a boom which threatens to get out of hand.

The immediate problem is simple and familiar; the only question is how it should be solved.

Britain tends to use too much of its production at home at the cost of reducing its exports, on which all production depends. Excessive demands for goods within Britain can be reduced either by direct methods such as rationing or by the indirect

It should be understood, of course, that the purpose of the new route from Douglas Street to the north end of Langford Lake is to provide rapid transit. To assure that end, no residential construction, hot dog stands, service stations or other structures which would cause an undue limiting of speed, should be countenanced. There are other roads available for the motorist who wishes to drive slowly. There are innumerable sideroads where he may proceed at a leisurely pace without impeding the motorist traveling as quickly as he can within the bounds of safety.

The new outlet is a credit to those who designed and built it. A major asset has been provided for island car travel, complementing the improvements made already at Goldstream.

methods of fiscal policy. Mr. Butler wisely chooses the indirect method, discourages installment buying and encourages the private banking system to curtail unnecessary credit which stimulates the demand for goods.

That his method will bring quick results, as he desires, is indicated by the immediate reaction on a falling stock exchange. Business knows that the consumption of goods in the domestic market will decline, at least fractionally. That decline may reduce business profits temporarily but will make more labor and materials available for exports and consequently enable the nation to buy more materials abroad.

As always, Britain must face the choice between the essential and the non-essential. The wise and in the end the only possible choice is being made by the Government, even though its policies may be temporarily unpopular. The alternative of rationing and governmental control over all aspects of the economy would be more unpopular and much less effective.

A Day for the Scot

TOMORROW THE SCOTS OF Victoria—the men, women and children who have followed the western sun to set down roots here and who, over the years, have made their own magnificent contribution to the building of Canada—hold their Highland Games at the Athletic Park.

The event is significant not only for the spectacle of colorful costume, well-contested piping and dancing competitions and an excellent track and field meet. It is important as a reminder to non-Scots of the traditions which have been brought to this country and have been interwoven in the Canadian fabric.

It is the Scots' day—a big day for them and for all others who take it in. May the sun shine on the buckled dancing shoes, may the pipes sound sweet to Scottish and other ears, and may the arms, backs and legs be strong under the weight of the caber. It's a fine occasion for those who represent the clans and for visitors alike.

Another Summit Meeting Over

Chips

By DAVID BROCK

I USED to know a kindergarten (it still exists, or at least it will spring to life again, phoenix-like, in September). At this little academy . . . I was going to call it a low-grade academy, because its little scholars have not yet reached Grade One, so that you might say they graduate at the end of Grade Zero, or Grade Minus One; but the proprietors could well object to my calling their little temple of learning a low-grade outfit. . . well, at this tiny university five-year-old students used to be taught one word of a foreign language every few days.

One day they would be told that the German for Jack is Hans, and another day they'd learn that the Russian for red is krasnoy. And so the year would wear on, until finally they had been told one word of each of about thirty languages.

THE teacher for this branch of their education was kept hopping. I can tell you that. (I once heard her give a short speech on the subject. She was breathless with enthusiasm. I was breathless too, but for different reasons.) It was a great deal of work for her, but she persevered. If she needed a word in Cornish, she probably phoned everyone in the telephone book whose name began with Pol, Tre, and Pen. Not that this would do her any good. Nobody speaks Cornish any more. But she'd feel she was giving the kids' parents their money's worth.

Whether the kids remembered any of this one-word-per-language course is extremely doubtful. Far from remembering things, most of the children I knew at this carefree institute never listened to anyone in the first place . . . not only from choice, but as a matter of principle. If any stubborn and perverse little devil did remember some of the assortment, he could have had a lot of fun by saying "ich am a bonny petit ab," which means "I am a pretty little duck" in German-English-Scottish-Cantonese.

THE idea behind the small but widespread sampling of languages was to give the five-year-old child the big broad flexible international outlook. If he realized that the French refer to gargles and gargling as le gargarisme, he might be less critical of their foreign policy. Or, put more fairly, he might become dimly aware that foreigners differ from ourselves and are not necessarily childish to do so.

Perhaps the theory would work among other kindergartens, or with slightly older kids. I hope so. I can only report that it had no startling success at the kindergarten I knew. The undergraduates I knew there, now anything up to fourteen years old, are as bigoted and provincial a bunch of baby-minded little Hicks as you would meet at a Klu Klux convention.

I THINK they do accept foreigners a trifle more readily than we did when I was a small boy, and this goes for strangers of different religions and social classes too, who are foreigners in another sense. A trifle more readily, but not much, and any improvement is due to a gradual change in society as a whole and not to any sudden change in the kindergartens. Or so I believe. But maybe every little bit helps, even a very small and rather comical bit. I'll try not to laugh too heartily . . . it is a grave fault of mine. I'm apt to forget that a tolerant society is extremely intolerant of laughter.

Well, I was talking the other day with a woman who has a small daughter at this same kindergarten. I asked if the one-word-per-language course was still offered. She said she wouldn't know . . . her daughter is very loyal about not saying what goes on at school.

BUT did you hear about the chicken?" she asked me. "No? Oh, it was marvelous. One of the teachers took a chicken apart to teach the little five-year-olds biology . . . zoology . . . comparative anatomy . . . call it what you like. To show them where the eggs came from. She disemboweled this pullet and dismembered it. Chopped it into messes. Then she held up handfuls of the wreckage (talk of battlefields!) and told the kids to remember this, the next time they had an egg for breakfast. And of course each kid came home and reported some thing to this effect: 'A chicken is full of miles and miles of kind-of long wet white clotheslines, and that's why we have eggs for breakfast.' Highly educational."

NICE DISH

I HAVE been reading The Cyprus Review, published monthly in Cyprus. I was fascinated by the following advertisement which I print here in full: "For a nice dish don't forget to call at Antonakis Bar. The House of 5,000 Bottles." It doesn't say whether the nice dish works there or is just a familiar customer.

I also read an interesting article on snakes. "The best way to get rid of a snake is to squeeze some garlic under its nose. It has the same repulsive effect as the sudden apparition of a puritan mother-in-law in an anarchist's young couple's bedroom." There is no use trying this sort of bright prose on poor old Brocky. It is so bright it dazzles him and he doesn't know where he is. What, for example, has anarchy got to do with it? And is this puritan mother-in-law of both the young anarchists? And those are only the simpler questions. I have others, too complex and perhaps too anarchistic for a puritan column. I shall now go out and find a rattlesnake and try to get well under his nose.

Asia at Geneva

By JOSEPH ALSOP from Washington

THE Eisenhower administration has at last agreed to start high-level, face-to-face talks with the Chinese Communists because India's Krishna Menon in effect put a pistol to the heads of the President and Secretary of State Dulles.

It can now be revealed that when Menon visited Washington some time ago, he brought a categorical warning that the Chinese Communists would begin all-out attack on Quemoy and the Matsu Islands within a few days after the meeting at the summit, if an agreement had not been reached to start Sino-American talks about the situation in the Formosa Strait.

That was the pistol. There was a deal of hatching, and a great deal of debate too about whether Menon's warning was to be taken seriously or dismissed as blackmail. The American government was solemnly committed, after all, never to discuss this situation in the Formosa Strait with the Chinese Communists unless representatives of the Chinese Nationalists were also present at the conference table.

TRANSPARENT HYPOCRISY

But now the talks with the Chinese Communists, demanded by Peking through Menon, are to begin on Monday. The State Department's spokesman, with smug, transparent hypocrisy, has declared that the main topic will be the American prisoners in Chinese Communist hands. Sen Knowland has been promised, apparently by the President himself, that the situation in the Formosa Strait will not be discussed. Maybe this is the present intention.

But it is hard to believe that this can be the present intention; and it is quite impossible to believe that such an intention will be adhered to, in view of the background of this vital new development.

Not only was the threat of an imminent Chinese Communist attack in the Formosa Strait the pistol that forced the agreement to talk. In addition, the agreement to talk was reached in negotiations in New Delhi, that followed Menon's visit to this country. And in New Delhi, the problem of the American prisoners counts for very little, and all attention is concentrated on the danger of war breaking out in the Formosa Strait.

HUMILIATING

The plain truth is, of course, that after many months of bluffing and big bold talk, the Administration has had to choose between a surrender that is all the more humiliating because of its background, or a very serious risk of war which the Administration is altogether unprepared to fight.

In the recent months of apparent lull, the balance of forces in the Pacific have actually deteriorated very greatly. On the one hand, America's already gravely enfeebled strength has been weakened further by the alleged economies of Secretary of Defence Charles E. Wilson. And the strength of the Chinese Nationalists has been so little increased that their entire force of really modern jet fighters comprises a single group of F-86's.

On the other hand, the local striking power of the Chinese Communists has been materially increased, by a further redeployment southwards of the main body of their extremely strong air force. The airfields at Swatow, in the near neighborhood of Quemoy, and at Fochow, in the near neighborhood of the Matus, are now fully ready for use by modern jets. This Communist planes, by flying from the main base areas in the regions of Canton and Shanghai and refueling at Fochow and Swatow, can operate over Quemoy and the Matus as long as or even longer than the planes of Chiang Kai-shek.

The Communist air strength absolutely outweighs the feeble strength of the Chinese Nationalists. It is even considerably greater than the local American and Chinese Nationalist air strength combined. Hence the Communists now have it clearly in their power to do either of two things. They can take Quemoy and the Matus by direct assault. Or, more tactfully, they can starve Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's forces on these islands into submission and surrender by air blockade.

SORRY STORY

With the Chinese Communists in this highly favorable position, it was a plain case of "put up or shut up" for the Eisenhower administration. The betting is now at least 5 to 1 that the sorry story that began with the grandiloquent "unleashing of Chiang Kai-shek" will end with the "shut up" alternative being chosen.

Maybe the Chinese Communists will have to inaugurate their air blockade first. In order to persuade the still obstinate Generalissimo Chiang to withdraw his men from Quemoy and the Matus. In that event, it can be stated on high authority, the Administration has already handsomely decided that American forces will be provided to cover this new evacuation, as was done in the case of the evacuation of Tachen islands.

All the same, it seems too bad that a little more thought was not given to the future before Chiang Kai-shek was "unleashed," or before the unfortunate Generalissimo was pressured to occupy the off-shore islands in heavy force, or even at some point later in the story. If we meant to give way, it would have been nicer to do so on our own motion, instead of giving way in response to a threat transmitted by the most anti-American leader in Asia.

As Our Readers See It

EFFRONTERY

The effrontery and arrogance shown by your correspondent who signs himself "C. S. Goode" in endeavoring to throw discredit on Major-General George Pearkes, VC, MP, in connection with the slight misunderstanding which appears to be present in the relationship between federal and provincial interests of the Conservative Party, disgusts me as well as many other "hangers on," as Goode describes us.

This and other thinly disguised efforts to cast discredit upon a member of parliament who has the confidence and loyal following of thousands of voters of independent feelings, regardless of "party," is no credit to the writer of the letter referred to.

It is not to be wondered that a few native-born Canadians get a bit weary of the flow of letters from a few correspondents. Many of these letters give advice to us on every conceivable subject. Is it possible your correspondent is disappointed upon failing to achieve a front seat on Major-General Pearkes' bandwagon?

In the provincial field no doubt Mr. Deane Finlayson is a most worthy young man. His day may come. His camp followers will, in my opinion, be doing themselves a great disservice if they persist in attacking a man of the calibre of Major-General George Pearkes, VC, whose integrity, trustworthiness and impartial work for the interests of all persons within his constituency irrespective of party, race or creed, is so well known to discriminating citizens.

WILLIAM C. JAMES.

WHOSE SONS?

Those embryo convicts who enjoyed, smashing up Heaney's trucks are evidently sons of people who believe in letting children "express" themselves.

The parents should reverse this idea and express themselves with a slipper on the anatomy of their little brainless offspring.

I wonder what those boys would think (that is if they are capable of thinking) if some other young fools came into their home and smashed everything in sight.

Just another case of delinquents showing off their "accomplishments" to their fellow rats.

P. CRANMER.

Victoria, B.C.

FOR A GREATER GLORY

May I put in a word for the Jesuits who were attacked by "Studi" in a recent issue?

Ignatius Loyola, who founded the Society of Jesus, or the Jesuits, is one of our saints. "For the greater glory of God" is, and always was, their motto. They teach love of God and of man, even of enemies. Each one models his life on that of Jesus, from whom their society takes its name.

There are modern Pharisees and Sadducees who malign them. I remember reading of them as the oily-tongued villains in the novels of Joseph Hocking (in the era of Maria Monk, Father Chenevix, and other celebrities). They were hanged, drawn and quartered in England for the treason of Mass and the sacraments. They were expelled from European nations in Machiavellian days, and accused of the diplomacy they condemned. They were suppressed by the Pope himself—but restored when truth emerged.

Among a few of them are Francis Xavier, whose body after 400 years still lies uncorrupted in India; Robert Bellarmine, who proclaimed the inalienable rights given man by God. Charles Carroll of Carrollton studied it under his Jesuit teachers—John Carroll of the American Revolution was himself a Jesuit. Brebeuf and Lalement of Canadian history, etc.

I myself, when attending Normal School in Alberta in 1912, protested against the unfair textbook which maligns the Jesuit educational system, and saw it replaced by one more in line with truth and justice—but still hostile.

OLD-TIMER.

THE THOUGHT COMES FIRST

Might I have a little space to reply to C. M. Cadwallader, who, like many other Christians, seems quick to speak of other persons as "contemptible" if their views differ from his.

He's evened out at "Candid," whose identity he'd like to know, and whose anonymity he calls "cowardly."

I think Mr. Cadwallader should be told that principles must always be placed above personalities. And it is that which is said that is important, and not he who said it. That is why the editorials on this page are always anonymous.

If I were to say "The most religious man must be the most gullible man" it does not have weight because I said it. The wisdom of that statement is in its words, and not in who spoke them, just as rudeness may nestle in other words even though it be Mr. Cadwallader who speaks them.

VERITAS.

WHY?

I was very surprised to see the appointment by Premier Bennett of a chartered accountant at a rate of $25 per hour to advise Chief Justice Sloan on taxation matters in connection with the forestry investigation.

I do not criticize the rate per hour because the appointee is of course an expert, but I am wondering why this "wonderful man," Mr. Gunderson, who is now on the provincial payroll, was not instructed to undertake this without further costs to the taxpayers.

H. G. PETTINGER.

MARKED for READING CHILLING

Ghost hunters in haunted houses have sometimes reported that, although they never actually saw a ghost, the temperature at one moment suddenly seemed to drop a degree or two. Whenever I hear certain lines in "The Queen's Maids" or "The Ballad of Tam Lin," I feel my psychic temperature dropping in this way. I cannot account for it except by supposing that such deep emotion is aroused that the body suffers from a kind of shock. I suppose one could be, literally, killed by beauty.

Sydney Carter, talking for BBC about the effects that some folk songs have upon him.

Me 'n' the Seven Dwarfs

TOMORROW the Shakespearean scholar in our morgue will say to me: "Good night, good night! Parting is such sweet sorrow." Then he'll add "You think it's gonna rain solid for the next three weeks, huh?"

Stott
It rain," I always sing, "Let it rain, let it rain."

This year there may even be some benefit from the precipitation. Through uxorial persuasion I expect to spend most of my holidays in a hole in the ground.

Some folks travel for their vacations. Some take a fling at high life, domestic and foreign. Some play games. Some lock themselves up in a ship's cabin and wonder, later, what happened to their time off.

Me, I'm destined to dig. As I keep trying to convince myself, there's a certain nobility to toil. A man close to the earth has fundamental virtues unknown to the traveler through the asphalt jungle. And if being close to the soil brings its own badge of merit, then I'll expect a medal. It is difficult to see how anybody could be closer to the earth than I'll be. By estimate based on progress to date on a Shawigan basement, I'll not only be close to the dirt—I'll be in it as long as I'll ever be until I become the subfoundation for a granite slab.

MAN WITH THE PICK

What to me the pickles? I'll be the man with the pick, head bent and looking for those hoses that went down in different places earlier in the year. Also I'll be looking for uranium, gold and some way of converting highly improper sermons to stones into material fit for print. What will I find? Possibly a little philosophy and unquestionably a lot of stones and hardpan.

Now on the matter of hardpan—and I speak with only small experience and really no technical knowledge—it seems to me that a rainy holiday may be a blessing. Rain actually softens the stuff. After a heavy precipitation a man with a needle-pointed pick can, in fact, make a dent in it. Give me a big enough downpour and I'll increase my excavating by several ounces a day.

There'll be a quality of mercy in the rain that droppeth like gentle buckets from heaven. Compassed in my hand-hewn crypt, pacing its narrow confines, mayhap I'll find some imbecilic joy in swinging my pick, making some impression on the earth heretofore so little impressed by me.

NO SYMPATHY PLEASE

Don't pity me at my lonely labors. A vacation, after all, is merely a period in which a person seeks to escape the ordinary, deadening monotony of his job. It'll be different with a pick and shovel. I won't be left mentally hanging on the ropes, waiting for the bell. No problems, human or divine, will break the calm serenity of my search into the ways of the under-earthlings.

Would I trade this opportunity for the sterilizing round of pleasure that so frequently passes for a vacation? Would I change places with the man who flies to Honolulu for his brief period of sun and sand worship? Would I swap with the person who goes to California for the gay round there? Would I prefer a holiday in the Okanagan Valley, topped off with the Kelowna Regatta? Or something more ambitious and costly, at Banff?

Why sure I would. But it isn't going to be that way. So I'll sing that Dwarf's chorus from Snow White and like it. I'll emerge snobbishly to inform the world of the fallacy in that Latin quotation, "facilis descensus Avernus" which we used to translate so freely "It's easy to go to Hell." Not with pick and shovel, it isn't.

And if I dig myself in too deep, why think nothing of it. The maniacal laughter you'll hear at Shawigan will be merely the call of the loon from the reedy margins of an island.

Should someone, in conversation, years hence ask what happened to me, just tell 'em I went underground.

Strong, folks.

Trouble With Quacks

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

A woman just came to me, bringing her little boy who has a severe form of diabetes. He has been under the care of a quack who has so little knowledge that he does not know that it would be criminal for him to treat a diabetic child without insulin.

Without it, in a few months, the child would surely go into coma (deep sleep) and die. The parents of this child did not want to take him to a regular physician because they had heard somewhere that if one starts using insulin one will not live beyond the age of 30. Just where these people and their quack got this weird idea I do not know. Actually, of course, in the old pre-insulin days, which I remember so well, a child like this always went down to skin and bones and died, usually within six months.

Today, as Dr. Joslin keeps telling us, if a diabetic will use insulin with skill and pertinacity and knowledge, he should live into his seventies. He can do it.

As I told these unhappy parents, even I, an internist who used to work alongside of experts on diabetes, am not competent to take the responsibility of treating such a dangerously ill child. I turned him over to an able man who is nationally known for his studies of the diabetes of children. If the child had gone into coma, the quack certainly would not have known what to do, and the child would certainly have died.

IGNORANCE TO BLAME

Many readers will doubtless write to ask me why such ignorant and untrained men are permitted to prey on our people, and the only answer I can give is that a large majority of our good people believe in quacks and will always throw the mantle of their protection about them. They are not influenced by the facts, which are than many of these quacks are ignoramuses and crooks and ex-confidence men. Our people feel that in some way these men can do what the highly educated and well-trained physician cannot do.

I have read the long stenographic reports of evidence given at trials in which the federal government has proved to the hilt that the most commonly-sold quack treatment for cancer in this country is utterly worthless; but still, several men are making many thousands of dollars a month selling it. I read that, after a hard-fought trial, the government got a court order restraining the head of a so-called Cancer Clinic from selling some useless stuff as a cancer cure—but, so far as I can hear, this did no harm to his enormous business.

A while ago I read the long official report of an investigation made by a fine district attorney into the antecedents of a notorious quack in his state. Although this investigation had shown that the man had never had any medical education; that his training had been mainly in the field of swindling; that he was an ex-convict; and that his license to practice had been obtained by skulduggery and probably bribery, there did not seem to be any chance of voiding either the man's diploma or his license to practice.

And if his right to practice could have been taken away from him, the state's attorney doubted if this would have bothered the fellow. When threatened with prosecution, what he had done was to ally his so-called "Medical research foundation" with a church. Then he dared the state's attorney to come and tangle with him. What the quack would then have done would have been to cry to high heaven that the state was persecuting a church. Then many good people would have come rushing angrily to his defence! Aren't we humans funny!

EARLY SHOCK TREATMENT

In Professor William Irvine's charming book, "Apes, Angels and Victorians" (McGraw Hill) he tells how, when in his later years, the great T. H. Huxley went into a spell of melancholia, he was badly slowed up, depressed and unable to work.

Then, one day, he read an article in which Gladstone had attacked Darwin and Evolution. This so angered Huxley and so outraged him that he got up and stormed through the house, cursing his old enemy. The angrier he got, the better he felt. He sat down and wrote a scathing reply for the "Nineteenth Century," and with this, he was well. A series of electro-shocks could not have done a better job!

War Would Be Suicide Declares St. Laurent

But Prime Minister Warns Against Any Complacency on Part of West

OTTAWA (CP)—War would be suicide, Prime Minister St. Laurent said Thursday.

But, he told a press conference, the West should not become complacent so that any potential aggressor might feel "that he could wipe us out without committing suicide."

He said he believes people everywhere are fearful of the outcome of any major thermonuclear war. This in itself was a factor in avoiding war but at the same time there should be no complacency.

The prime minister said he would be glad to have a Russian delegation come to Canada as guests of the government, which would arrange reception and entertainments so "they can see us as we really are."

Life-Giving Rain

The garden during a quiet summer rain is a pleasant place.

The family dog and cat are curled asleep in the chairs, the bantams are on their roost, and the garden lies quietly absorbing the life giving rain.

Soil itself seems to be the most alive at this time. With moisture in it we know the bacteria are able to go to work breaking down the humus. The minerals are released and made available through the soil moisture to the plants.

Most of the shrubs shed the rain off the ends of their branches down to the feeding root tips.

It is interesting to notice how few of the summer flowers are adversely affected by the rain. The lilies have either drooping or out-facing blooms, so that water does not spoil their beauty. Yucca, which also belongs in the great lily family, has drooping bells of waxy texture unharmed by rain.

COLORS GLEAM

An added pleasure in the quietness of the rain is to note how the colors gleam, the pinks and rosy reds of perennials, the rosy purple of

The great brown monarch butterfly secretes an acid fluid which is distasteful to birds, making it immune to their attacks.

Fear of Hydrogen Bomb Influenced Big Four at Geneva Says Eden

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Anthony Eden Thursday acknowledged that behind the progress made at the Geneva "summit" conference lay the threat of the hydrogen bomb.

The prime minister was reporting to the country in a radio-television broadcast on the Geneva talks. He spoke of the difficult post-war years and the growth in Europe and of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in the West, and Soviet Russia and her satellites in the East.

"It may seem strange," Eden said, "but the knowledge of the destruction that the hydrogen bomb can bring with it; that as a result there can be in a future war neither victor nor vanquished, but all must suffer, even neutrals—that has its effect on the course and conduct of international affairs."

"So it has been that when we gathered at Geneva we made progress."

The prime minister said not all problems were solved, and next spring could open "a new era."

There is, no call yet for easy optimism. But there has been a relaxation of tension.

He said he believes, too, that the visit of the Soviet leaders, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev, to Britain was an immensely important event. It is the first time that the leading minister of the Soviet Union has visited a western land. I hope, I am sure, that valuable discussions will result."

Cuthbert Tells of 'Payoffs' by Bookies

Kept Liquor Himself But Split Cash With Mulligan, Probe Told

By BRUCE LEVETT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Over a six-week period in 1949 police chief, Walter Mulligan, shared in a series of $500 payoffs to protect Vancouver gamblers, Det.-Sgt. Len Cuthbert, 54-year-old veteran officer, testified before a royal commission Thursday.

The payoffs also included bottles of whisky.

"In each case I would keep the whisky and take the $500 to the chief constable's office where I would get $250 in return. I always gave those men whom I knew I could trust—those names I can't recall now—a portion of that money."

Cuthbert, former head of the gambling squad, was testifying before the inquiry into alleged corruption of the Vancouver police force.

Cuthbert said he had made arrangements with Pete Wallace, mentioned as a big-time gambler, to allow him to operate a bookmaking establishment.

"He gave me the bag with $500 and one or two bottles of whisky," he said.

REPLIES FALTERED

Then followed rapid questions by H. A. D. Oliver, his counsel, and faltering replies by the witness:

Oliver: What did you do with this?

Cuthbert: The whisky I kept. The $500 I kept until I had the next daily phone call to the chief constable's office. As a result of that call I saw the chief in his office.

Then I took Mr. Wallace's money—in large denominations—and told the chief from whom this money came and put it on his desk.

In return he gave me one-half of that $500—$250.

Oliver: What did you do with that $250?

Cuthbert: Lord knows where it went, but it went.

Oliver: Did you keep it all?

Cuthbert: No, sir.

Oliver: Did you give some to other people?

Cuthbert: Yes.

Oliver: Are you able to swear who those people were?

The witness, after a long pause, answered:

"No, sir. I am sorry—very, very sorry. I've asked myself many times and could not tell you sir on oath who I gave the money to. I might say to explain that the men detailed to work on that division were constantly being changed."

NAMES NOT REMEMBERED

Oliver: Was this payment of $500 an isolated payment?

Cuthbert: No, sir. . . . Mr. Wallace made two or three payments at intervals of 10 days or so. He would telephone, I would meet him and he would leave that parcel with me—$500 and a couple of bottles of whisky, in every case to catch a bookie. It's easy to pass a bookie shop and not know it is there. If Mr. Sunderland's little shop didn't receive too much attention, it was because there was nothing too obvious going on.

Cuthbert said Wallace and his associates had control of gambling in the eastern part of the city and he split all money from these people with the chief.

"On the other hand, if he had some money from our friends, he would pass me half of that money in an envelope," he said.

"OUR FRIENDS"

He did not know the names of the men the chief got his money from, the sergeant testified, but said they operated in the western part of the city and always were referred to as "our friends."

Soon after he was appointed to the gambling squad in 1949 Cuthbert said he met former policeman Jack Whelan who said he wanted to introduce Cuthbert to someone in the bookmaking business.

Whelan wouldn't name the person but said: "Well now, Len, you've known me long enough. You know I wouldn't want you to meet the wrong people."

MET IN HOTEL

Cuthbert said he was introduced to Wallace in a room at the York Hotel.

"Either Whelan or Wallace mentioned that there were basement premises vacant in the 100 block East Hastings street."

I knew enough that the premises would be very valuable to anyone able to get a licence for a sporting club as it was right in the centre of the sporting district. I also knew that licences weren't the easiest things in the world to get.

"I believe Wallace said he'd like to have a club down there but more so that he'd like to run a book, or take bets

MAY LAST UNTIL AUG. 31

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Prospects are that the Royal Commission inquiry into the Vancouver Police Department might last until the end of August.

Commissioner R. H. Tupper, QC, indicated this Thursday.

illegally, on those premises if he could possibly make any arrangements to get away with it.

"During the same conversation, Wallace made it clear that he would be willing to pay for such favors."

Cuthbert said he couldn't remember if a specific sum of money was mentioned but he said it wasn't $5,000 a month as another witness has already testified.

"When the suggestion was made, what did you say?" asked Mr. Oliver.

"I told them both that I would have to think it over and that I would have to tell the chief constable about it. In the meantime, I said I would make some inquiries."

A few days later, Cuthbert said he spoke to Det. George Kitson about the proposition and took him to another meeting at the York hotel.

"As a result, it was arranged between Wallace and myself that I would at some time arrange for him to see the chief constable or that I would see the chief constable myself."

"I think there was a mention made that he had an interest in two or three bookmaking premises in the east end and that if he couldn't arrange a licence for these premises he would be very generous for any assistance I might give him in running these unlicensed."

"He gave me no money on that occasion."

Cuthbert said an arrangement was finally worked out that he would make daily telephone contact with Mulligan.

Following one of the calls "this proposition of Wallace's was discussed and a payment was agreed upon between the chief constable and myself which I was to collect."

The officer then described how Wallace handed over the first paper bag containing $500 and two bottles of whisky near the Canadian National Railways station here.

"In the early part of this business, the chief constable said he had friends in the western end of the city whom he expected I would cover in the same way as I had covered the operations of Wallace in the east end."

Cuthbert said he didn't know the men Mulligan knew and in conversation they were always referred to as "our friends."

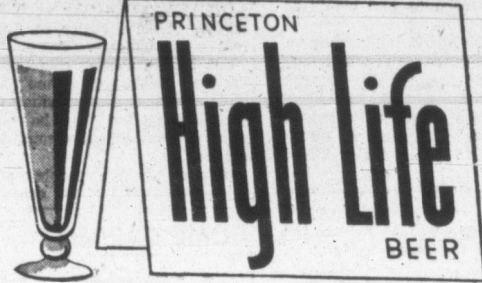

"Did you receive any remuneration from these people who you call 'our friends'?" asked Mr. Oliver.

Cuthbert said he would go into the chief's office "with Mr. Wallace's money, or on the other hand, if he had some money from 'our friends,' he would pass me that money in an envelope."

After six months with the gambling detail, Cuthbert said he went to Gordon Scott, then city prosecutor and now a magistrate, in reply to a phone call.

"Mr. Scott said he'd heard some very disturbing rumors and stories concerning the gambling detail—stories that involved me. He had up to that time was not corroborated."

Leatherdale Refused Bribe

VANCOUVER (CP)—"I wish I saw the police chief after his I'd had the same amount of appointment to detective-sergeant," Det.-Sgt. Len Cuthbert said at Thursday's royal commission hearing into Vancouver's police force.

gan in April, 1949, Cuthbert was told there was a vacancy for a detective-sergeant in the liquor detail.

Mulligan asked if Det. Robert H. Leatherdale "would play ball," Cuthbert testified.

"I said I didn't think Leatherdale was that type of man but I said I'd try to find out."

Cuthbert said he tried to persuade Leatherdale to take the job.

"I told him the liquor detail could be a very profitable position if certain premises were permitted to operate . . ."

Cuthbert said Leatherdale

Timber Rights Sold on Lake Game Reserve

Firm Will Log Bald Mountain

LAKE COWICHAN—Timber rights on one of the most attractive game reserves on Cowichan Lake have been sold by the provincial government to the Duncan Bros., a Duncan logging firm, it was learned today.

The area known as the Bald Mountain game reserve was created by an Order-in-Council in 1928 following a petition from residents for a park along the lake shore.

Under the present contract, the eastern and northern slopes of the mountain, including the few trees which grow on the sub-alpine summit of the mountain, will be completely logged off.

The mountain is known for its deer, bear and bird life. It was one of the few remaining spots along the 18-mile-long lake which had not been designated for logging. The timber rights around practically the entire lake have now been leased or sold for logging.

Home Watering Regulation Due In Ladysmith

LADYSMITH—City council decided at its regular meeting Wednesday night to crack down on householders who do not obey sprinkling regulations.

On the motion of Ald. Allan Carey and Ald. P. R. Battie, the council decided to appoint an inspector who will be authorized to lay information and complaints where regulations are not observed. The city already has a by-law under which prosecutions may be made.

Ald. Carey, chairman of the waterworks committee, told the council that many householders have complained directly to him about lack of enforcement of the regulations and asked what action the council was prepared to take.

During discussion it was agreed that householders in some areas can not get sufficient pressure during sprinkling hours and that the inadequacy of the city's water distribution system was probably responsible for some of the infractions.

It was also agreed, however, that the city should not impose restrictions unless it was prepared to enforce them and that without restrictions some householders would not have sufficient pressure to meet their domestic needs.

Mayor Len Ryan pointed out that in Nanaimo frequent inspections are made and charges are laid automatically for even slight infractions of the regulations.

Firm Protests Water Shut-Off

CHEMAINUS—The sudden shut-off of the water supply while workmen were ripping up streets to lay mains for the new system was rapped by officials of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., Chemainus division, at a special meeting here.

Company officials, B. P. Page and engineer C. G. Ford, pointed out to Reeve C. A. P. Murison, Clr. A. E. Craig, consulting engineer A. R. Colby and municipal works superintendent Perry Ross that the occurrence could easily have been a serious and costly one for the sawmill operation. Household and businessmen also were caught short by the sudden shut-off, it was pointed out.

Fire Chief Ray Millard was disturbed, as no provision had been made for fire protection during the shut-down.

Reeve Murison assured the meeting that in future, and when possible, ample notice will be given. He reported that another such shut-off would occur Sunday morning when a six-inch line is to be cut into a 12-inch main.

The event covers nine tests and examinations for the drivers. Contestants will be L. A. Budd, J. K. Burnstead, H. W. Fitter, W. A. Fyfe, S. Hladay, G. E. Ledingham, R. W. Millard and M. A. Rubimuk. Judges will be W. M. Allison, G. A. Norris and H. Hamper of the BCLMA safety department, Vancouver.

TOP WINNERS in All-Island soap box derby held at Chemainus were Norman Morrison, left, and Bruce Dick, both of Chemainus, who defeated boys from Victoria, Nanaimo, Port Alberni to win senior, junior trophies, respectively. Boys also did well at B.C. championships in Mission City, where Norman finished fourth in class A event, and Bruce won class B. (Poskitt Photo.)

Cowichan Board Will Ask Clubs To Operate Midway at Fair

DUNCAN—Directors of the Cowichan agricultural and industrial exhibition are hoping for the co-operation of service clubs in providing a midway for the annual fair.

Mrs. S. Robertson, secretary of the fair committee, confirmed reports that there was no Vancouver Island fair circuit this year.

"I am positive that no midways are coming to the Island," she said.

Letters from fair boards at Nanaimo, Saanich, Courtenay, and Comox said they were having the same difficulty, she said.

A letter from W. J. Lamb, manager of the Comox Valley Fair Association, predicted that the old circuit for Vancouver Island fairs would be in operation again next year, and Island fairs would be in a position to make a strong bargain with midways.

For this year, however, it is going to be a case of "do it yourself," as all the Island fairs are being thrown on their own resources, and are having to call on service clubs to take over the operation of booths and rides.

"We have not yet contacted service clubs in Duncan, but we hope to get their co-operation," said Mrs. Robertson.

The secretary said the Kinsmen Club at Courtenay was going to operate four mechanical rides, and as the Courtenay fair takes place before the Cowichan fair, an attempt will be made to have the four rides brought to Duncan.

RETA MYERS ON RUSSIA

lated by an interpreter. And glasses of vodka, and finally champagne would be filled to cries of "Zdravsha sdravsha." A Canadian would rise with glass in hand and some words, and another toast would disappear. It took more than an hour to wish each other "good health" and as we watched one of the women delegates go through the heavy routine, we were happy that Russian hospitality had not caught up with us.

Members of the World Peace Conference just completed in Helsinki, also arrived that Saturday, the Canadian group led by Dr. James Endicott and his wife. In addition there were 25 members of the Congress of Canadian Women, en route to the first World Congress of Mothers at Lausanne. They had detoured through Helsinki to swell the Canadian group and make it the biggest delegation at the Peace Conference. They were also being entertained by Russian women . . . but not strenuously.

Dr. Endicott, who received the Stalin peace prize this year, would be in Moscow for some time. He was being given the full treatment, with apartment, kitchen, special cook and a Zim car. Russians make a great deal of this award, he said. He would also take treatment in Russia for a disability of his spine.

As we sat together at the ballet Sunday afternoon, he discussed on the Chinese situation, with which he has kept abreast through meetings with former Chinese friends. He is convinced that China will take the off-shore islands, he said. As for Formosa, he quoted one of the Chinese leaders:

"Chiang Kai-shek is an old man . . . maybe he will trip on his beard."

Russian Hosts Pay His Bills

We also met Ben Spence, 87-year-old former Toronto crusading minister and temperance worker, who was on his way to Geneva. Like other members of the delegation he was guest of the Russians, with the host paying all bills. Dr. Endicott told me that the U.S.S.R. had paid him 1,000 roubles for a 15-minute broadcast.

We had made our trip to Leningrad on the Red Arrow, one of the new Diesel engine trains. This is classed as international. There is also soft and hard class. We never did find out how hard travel could get in Russia, but we certainly

City of Bloodiest Battles

Tragedy haunts every corner of Leningrad, city of some of the bloodiest battles of the revolution. It is in Winter Palace Square in 1905 that workers were met by soldiers when they went to complain to the Czar about conditions. Some 2,000 fell. It was to this city that Lenin was brought back in a closed train from abroad in April, 1917, and, speaking from a tank in front of the railway station, helped to spark the revolution. The cruiser Aurora, now painted bright blue, is moored on the Neva not far from the centre of the city, a peaceful museum. It is hard

Scars of War Still Showing

On Sunday after the ballet, we drove out through war devastated areas to Peterhof Palace built by Peter the Great. Parts of the countryside still shows scars of war and a mounted tank has been erected where Russian tanks and troops held back the Germans only five miles from the city.

The palace was badly bombed during the war, and is now almost restored. The vast parks were opened in 1945 and the first of the 126 fountains that pour 30,000 gallons of water per second down the marble-staired embankment in front of the palace, was opened in 1946. Today some 150,000 people visit the gardens daily during the summer months.

We left Leningrad that night for Moscow to pick up the plane that was to take us on

British Jet Fighters Replace RAF's Sabres

Hawker-Hunter Production Problem Solved; Switch From F-86s Costs U.S. $140 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is buying $140,000,000 worth of British-made jet fighters for the Royal Air Force.

They will replace American—and Canadian—manufactured F-86s which were assigned to Britain when she encountered trouble—particularly in the use of guns—in production models of her own aircraft.

The F-86s, numbering about 400, are to be returned to the U.S. Air Force for reallocation to some other country or countries under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization program.

The U.S. defence department made the announcement today by releasing without comment a British defence ministry statement published simultaneously in London.

About 465 Hawker Hunter jet fighters will be produced to replace the 400 F-86 Sabre jets provided for the RAF during 1952 and 1953, plus others supplied later.

The cost per plane for the Hunters will be about $207,000, plus cost for spare parts. An F-86E costs between $300,000 and $400,000, including spare parts.

The British statement said the Sabres have given the RAF "most valuable service," but there were "substantial" advantages in equipping the RAF with British-type planes, which can be serviced and repaired from United Kingdom sources.

Scientists estimate that the eyes consume about one-fourth of the total nervous energy of the body.

Royal and Ancient Custom: a Schweppes Tonic Drink...

COMMANDER WHITEHEAD, the ubiquitous Man from Schweppes, has just defeated Colonel Bogey for the first time in his life. Reward? At least one tonic drink. Mixed with the incomparable Schweppes Tonic Water.

Says the Commander: "So enticing is the thought of Schweppes cool, bitter-sweet taste, that many a man has made his first hole-in-one just to get to the clubhouse (and Schweppes) all the sooner."

Schweppes carbonation also sets an international standard. It's a locked-in carbonation they call Schweppervescence—and it lasts the whole drink through. Schweppes bubbles never waste themselves exploding in the bottle . . . or even in your glass, as long as you don't disturb it. But when you drink Schweppes, you'll find each little bubble bursts upon your tongue, heightening the flavour of your tonic drink.

Connoisseurs say it should be unconstitutional to make a tonic drink without Schweppes. So stock up now for summer. Schweppes Tonic Water costs about the same as ordinary brands, because it is now bottled here from the original imported elixir under the eagle eye of Commander Whitehead.

P.S. Schweppes also make the emperor of all the Ginger Ales, and a great Club Soda. Enjoy the whole family of Schweppes world-famous beverages—Schweppes Tonic Water, Schweppes Ginger Ale and Schweppes Club Soda.

AVAILABLE at your grocer or local store BY THE BOTTLE, BY THE 6 BOTTLE CARTON and BY THE CASE.

Tee Topics

By BILL WALKER

It was nice that Bill McColl of Royal Colwood was selected to the B.C. Willingdon Cup golf team.

It was gratifying because the selection was indeed a worthy one. And it was fitting because Bill has one blot on his personal record of success that he intends to erase from the books.

The particular event which Bill vividly recalls—probably just as readily but adversely as he proudly looks back on last week-end's triumph in the B.C. Closed at Oak Bay—concerned the Willingdon Cup team matches of 1949.

The place was St. John's, New Brunswick, and Bill was a member of the B.C. squad. He fired a big 81 in the opening round, but the worst was yet to come.

On the second round, everything that could go wrong, did just that, and, at the end of nine holes Bill totalled his card to find that he had accumulated a horrendous 48.

He discarded his driver from that point on and ripped off a one-over-par 36 coming home to finish with a still horrendous 84 and 36-hole total of 165.

The fact that the B.C. team that year finished third in the cup match, losing to Ontario by 13 strokes, still rankles in Bill's memory.

He was reminiscing about this incident as far back as the semifinal round of this year's Times Island Match-Play Open. And it was quite evident then that Bill had one objective in mind.

Sunday he reached the final preliminary stage of that objective, which he fully hopes will be atonement for that smudge on his record.

He reached his present Willingdon Cup position with a record that will be hard to match in future years on the Island. Five major titles are now his—the B.C. Closed, the Island Open, the Cowichan Open, and the Mid-Island and Zone I championships.

But above all, he has attained the pedestal he set for himself. And doubtless now, it will be a determined battler who tees off this week-end at Calgary.

Is it any reason then that we doubly wish him well? Incidentally, Bill went to the fourth round of the Canadian Amateur that year.

The Crawford Case

There have been remarks printed elsewhere in a medium of this type that Lyle Crawford's showing in the B.C. Closed may have been effected by a "holtering match" he engaged in with greens committee members of Victoria Club prior to the tournament.

It was said that Crawford received permission from assistant pro Laurie Carroll to practice on the 17th fairway. Six practice shots later Crawford is reported to have said he was ordered off by a greens committee member. This annoyed Crawford and "did nothing for my temperament."

First let's get the story straight. Crawford was given permission to practice, not on the 17th but alongside the 17th. Secondly he was not ordered off; rather it was suggested to him by a club member and not a committee member, that he desist from taking six-inch divots out of the fairway, and would he please play from the rough where this member was playing.

In comment it would seem that Crawford may be included in the "spoiled-child" class. He should have known better, especially when politely asked to move his position.

So let's do away with the crying towel, please. B.C. Amateur champ or not, ethics are still ethics; or, aside to Lyle, ethics are behaviour.

Courtesy, Please

And on that theme, some Victoria Club members could study their courtesy book a little more closely.

It was rather disarming, to say the least, to see some members ask for and get starting times between rounds of the B.C. Closed. Those responsible should have realized that when a course is given over to a tournament such as this, the entire course is given over, not just part of it. This indiscretion is the more pronounced because playing privileges at Colwood and Uplands had been obtained for Oak Bay members that day.

But next week, it's the ladies' turn to holler. The Canadian Closed starts Thursday at Colwood, the Open on Monday, Aug. 8. You won't see better here for many a day.

And also, this Sunday, there's the Uplands Club final between Frank Scroggs and Gil Briscoe with tee-off times for the 36-hole test at 9:30 and 2. The club prize presentation and dance will be held Aug. 6.

Real Chummy—Canada's Best

The two "mighty mites" of Canadian golf, Dot Herbertson, left, and Marlene Stewart, will renew their rivalry at Royal Colwood Golf Club next week when the Canadian Ladies' Close championships open Thursday.

Miss Stewart took the crown last year and Miss Herbertson, B.C. titlist from Gorge Vale, was runner-up.

B.C. Joint Favorite For Willingdon Cup

RAIN HALTS TENNIS; PROGRAM STEPPED UP

A full round of matches has been scheduled for today by the draw committee of the B.C. Open Tennis Championships in an effort to keep the tourney from continuing until Sunday.

All tournament play at Victoria Lawn Tennis Club was rained out Thursday, leaving some quarter-final matches still to be decided.

Today's play will continue until dusk, weather permitting, with singles, doubles, junior and veteran events all having a full schedule. (See draw.)

Navy Rowers Qualify But Still Underdogs

By JACK SULLIVAN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont. (CP)

The big, tough hardcores of rowing—men who have established a right to be called seniors—make their first appearance today in the 73rd annual Royal Canadian Henley.

They'll add the necessary class and experience to the country's premier regatta.

The juniors and high school rowers and scullers have shared the spotlight the last two days, and they've done a good job, but the smooth-working senior blade-diggers are tops in North America.

And most of them are here.

A Vancouver eight, cheered by a flock of good-luck telegrams from home, entered the final of the eights Thursday because the third boat in another heat had a rough time fighting the choppy water and posted a slow time.

Only two heats were raced in the event with the first two of each and the fastest third going into the final. The men from HMCS Discovery, a naval reserve shore station in Vancouver, took third place in their heat in 8:02.5 and a crew from Wyndolite, Mich., was third in its heat but was timed in 8:19.0.

GAMBLE PAYS OFF

The navy men's big gamble had paid off. Each member of the crew had borrowed $400 to make the trip east and none had ever raced in an open regatta before this week.

They are sentimental favorites today but they'll get plenty of opposition from Philadelphia Vesper, Hamilton Leanders, St. Catharines Rowing Club and New York Athletic Club.

The five - scull doubles final shapes up as a thriller with two Canadian shells co-favorites. They are the combination of Les Hempall and Ken Taylor from the Vancouver Row Club and Jim Roche and Jackie Pearce from Hamilton Leanders.

In a heat Thursday the Ontario scullers nipped the west coast pair by a foot in the closest race of the day.

The more daring of the racing fans will have a chance to try their skill at the real thing Saturday night when a special spectators' race will be held.

Regular drivers will give the novices a few quick tips on how to handle the cars, and then they will be on their own. The race will be run off in the conjunction with the regular meet, and all safety precautions will be observed.

Time trials start at 7:30.

Babe Ruth Stars In Tourney Today

Victoria's all-star Babe Ruth League team is in North Vancouver today competing in the provincial Babe Ruth League tournament.

If the Victoria team wins the event, which runs through Saturday, it will return to Vancouver Aug. 3 and 6 for the Pacific Northwest regional tournament at Capilano Stadium.

The winner of that playoff travels to Austin, Texas, Aug. 16 along with seven other regional winners for the Babe Ruth League fourth annual world series.

Fans Stay Home

Crowds Don't Reflect Tense AL Flag Race

NEW YORK (CP)—Despite the closeness of the pennant race in the American League, the fans aren't exactly crawling over each other to get into the baseball parks.

Chicago White Sox, the league leaders by a scant two percentage points, and the second-place New York Yankees drew 69,883 fans for their series—a night game, day doubleheader and single game—completed at Yankee Stadium Thursday. The ball park has a seating capacity of 67,000.

The third-place Cleveland Indians and the fourth-place Boston Red Sox did considerably better at smaller Fenway Park in Boston, which has a seating capacity of 34,822. They drew 75,828 for their three-game series, also ended Thursday.

The Yankee Stadium crowds for the series were: 37,369 Tuesday night, 18,252 Wednesday for the doubleheader and only 14,062 Thursday.

At Fenway Park, the Red Sox had a near-sellout Tuesday night—33,423—and drew 24,341 Wednesday and 17,064 Thursday.

In June, when the White Sox came to New York for a four-game series, including a doubleheader, they drew a total of 99,372 fans. Likewise the Indians and Red Sox did better at Fenway Park last month with a total attendance of 88,144 fans for a four-game series including a day-night doubleheader.

Under present plans, Bionda, who has been working out with an intermediate club in the east, will rejoin the Irish either on Aug. 6, date of the Shamrocks' final league appearance in Nainaimo, or early the following week.

McMillan said today that Bionda definitely would play in the Shamrocks' final two league contests, Aug. 10 and 12.

Girls Edged In Minor Boxla

A combined pee-wee and bantam league boys all-star team edged out a girls' league team 6-4, in an exhibition lacrosse game at Stevenson Park Thursday.

Wednesday night, prior to the Intercity Lacrosse League game at Memorial Arena, Saanich and Victoria diaper league teams battled to a 4-4 deadlock.

Scorers: Boys—Larry Johnston 3, Brian Spaven 1, Monty Vanden 1, John Hanson 1, Glen MacFarlane 1, Maurice George 1, Pat Burnett 1.

Girls—Neil Ranger 2, Bruce Bryan 2, Ross Cave 1, Brian Fisher 1, Bruce Field 1.

Victoria—Phil Wade 1, Glen Vickers 1, Paul Wade 1, Jim Haggerty 1.

McGovern ruled Wednesday that a Charleston, S.C., negro team was not eligible to represent South Carolina in the regional championship.

McGovern previously had ruled that the Cannon Street YMCA team of Charleston was eligible to compete for the state title. The state's 55 other teams, all comprising white players, then withdrew from the tournament.

The negro team was declared the South Carolina winner by default.

Other members of the team are Bill McColl and Bob Kidd.

All but Victoria's McColl are from Vancouver. Bryan Copp is B.C.'s junior representative.

Twelve of the 32 men on the eight teams were in Willingdon Cup competition last year.

Manitoba has the most experienced Willingdon team of the lot.

The team had an average age of 35 and among them they had made 19 starts in the interprovincial competition. Mike Pidlski, 39, was the only one who appeared in 1954, but he was on the Manitoba team in eight of the last nine years.

The Willingdon consists of 36 holes of medal play, with the total scores of the four players on each team determining the winner. The whole event will be run off Saturday, with two rounds of 18 holes each.

Durrelle Keeps Title

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Canadian light heavyweight champion Yvon Durrelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., successfully defended his crown Thursday night by knocking out challenger Billy Fifield of Toronto in one minute and 10 seconds of the first round.

Junior Rocks Face Elimination

It will be do or die for Victoria's Junior Shamrocks at Nanaimo Saturday night.

They are scheduled to meet Vancouver Rockies at Nanaimo Arena at 6:30 in a battle to decide the last playoff spot in the Intercity Junior Lacrosse League. The winner advances into the playoffs with undefeated Mr. Pleasant Indians and New Westminster.

The bus will leave Memorial Arena at 4 p.m. sharp and all players are requested to be on time.

Caddies Needed At Royal Colwood

Want to be a caddy at the Canadian Ladies' Close and Open Golf championships?

If so, contact pro Bill Court at Colwood Golf and Country Club. Caddies will be urgently needed for the next two weeks for the Open and Close tourneys, as well as the interprovincial team matches and the junior women's championship.

While play will not start until next Thursday, caddies will be needed at the beginning of the week for practice rounds.

Bionda Answers Shamrock Plea

Jack Bionda has answered the emergency call of the Victoria Shamrocks of the Intercity Lacrosse League.

Originally scheduled to rejoin the club for the league play-downs, Bionda agreed Thursday to report prior to the final two league games of the season.

Shamrocks' coach Red McMillan made the disclosure Thursday night following a telephone conversation with last year's league scoring champion.

Bionda was with the Irish earlier this season but was forced to return home because of family illness. At the time of his departure he was leading the 'Rocks in scoring with 32 goals.

The earlier need for Bionda's services now has been occasioned by the Shamrocks' relatively poor record of late, the league championship now being virtually conceded to the Nainaimo Timbermen who lead by two points and have three games in hand.

Under present plans, Bionda, who has been working out with an intermediate club in the east, will rejoin the Irish either on Aug. 6, date of the Shamrocks' final league appearance in Nainaimo, or early the following week.

McMillan said today that Bionda definitely would play in the Shamrocks' final two league contests, Aug. 10 and 12.

Detroit Quietly Moving Up

By The Associated Press

Chicago White Sox have a reputation for fading when the chips are down and the heat is on in July.

But look, today Marty Marion's gang has knocked New York Yankees out of first place in the American League.

By only two slim percentage points, to be sure, but White Sox showed no signs of folding as they whipped Yankees 3-2 Thursday to take the vital series two games to one.

Since July 14, when White Sox were in third place, six games back of New York, Chicago has won 12 of 17 games, rolling at a .706 pace.

Cleveland Indians defeated Boston Red Sox 6-4 Thursday to pull within a game of the lead while Detroit Tigers overcame Baltimore Orioles 7-5 and trail the leaders by 5 1/2 games in fifth place. Washington Senators and Kansas City Athletics were idle.

HOMERS CARRY DODGERS

Rookie pitcher Roger Craig and Brooklyn home runs produced a 10-2 victory over Cincinnati Reds as Dodgers maintained their 2 1/2-game National League spread over the second-place Milwaukee Braves, who defeated Philadelphia Phillies 4-2.

New York Giants downed Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals defeated Pittsburgh Pirates, both by 4-1 scores.

Walt Droppa continued his batting spree, his two-run homer in the third inning off Bob Turley proving the White Sox margin over New York. Connie Johnson had Yankees shut out until Mickey Mantle hit his 22nd homer in the ninth with one aboard. Reliever Billy Pierce struck out pinch-hitter Jerry Coleman with the bases full to end it.

Cleveland snapped back at Boston after losing the first two games of the series, with Al Rosen the star for the Tribe. He batted in three runs, two with his 16th homer in the third inning.

TIGERS MOVING

At Baltimore, Tigers made it four of five over Orioles, setting a faster pace than Chicago since the all-star tussle. Detroit has moved at a .765 clip since July 14, winning 13 of 17. Reno Bertoia's double drove in three runs in the first inning to start Tigers on the victory road.

CAMPY HOMERS TWICE

Roy Campanella hammered a pair of Brooklyn homers, while Craig fanned 11 Redlegs to up his record to 3-0 since joining the club two weeks ago. Ted Kluszewski hit his 33rd homer for Cincinnati. Camp now leads the league in batting with a .332 average.

MILWAUKEE—Kenny Lane, 139th, Muskegon, Mich., stopped Elmer Lakso, 138th, Youngstown, Ohio 18-1.

LOS ANGELES—Zora Folley, 183, Phoenix, Ariz., stopped Jake Williams, 154, Portland, Ore. 7-1.

With DENNY BOYD

Mr. Denny Boyd, the usual proprietor of this column, being on a short vacation, today's tips on what to do, what to see and where to go to do it, have been prepared by Miss Streamer Gray Macle, Mr. Boyd's raving correspondent.

Dear Denny:
Well, everything I got is hot, as usual, except the weather, and you know what that does for my girdle.

Matter of fact I haven't got the same old girdle any more. I heard Doc Clarke and Wes Fulton talking about making pseudo herring strip out of a girdle. I checked and I qualified. Maybe I should say my girdle qualified.

It was one of those latex jobs — you'll remember! And so I took to chopping it up into little pieces, each piece being modelled after herring strip.

Doc Clarke swears by it as being as good as the real thing. Wes Fulton carries a couple of pieces of the stuff on the boat (but really uses bottled herring). Me! Well, I'm like George Douglas, I caught a 6½-pounder this week and hope it'll keep me on the ladder.

I was up-island last week, and thought you might like to know that the cohos are taking bucktails off French Creek; Tom Macks and Mac's Squids are still a good bet, but you have to watch the weather. It's rough around that Qualicum and Parksville area; but beat the wind and you'll likely score.

Saw my old pal, Alan MacLean, too, in my travels. Quite a guy is Alan. Never could figure out what his middle initial "M" stands for; but then it wasn't until a couple of weeks ago that I discovered Cliff Heglin's real name. Remind me to tell you next time we cut up a few girdles.

But anyway, as I was saying, I saw Alan MacLean, and he's still all business. The cohos, it seems, are up to about 10 pounds now at Campbell River, and taking streamer flies. Green and white is the color. Springs are getting bigger, too, says Alan, and taking plugs mostly.

Alan also passes on the info that the best spot for trout is where the river from Upper Campbell empties into Lower Campbell, with Lower Campbell producing the better size, but not in the same abundance as Upper, if you get what I mean.

Haven't got around to trying Cowichan Bay yet, but one of my running mates (his name is Doug) tells me that early morning is the best bet and, if they're hitting, Mac's Squids will take 'em as good as the next lure.

There's not much else to report this week, Denny me lad; but oh, yes, I know what you mean about the inlet. That weed is really something, isn't it? Did hear though that the boat-house proprietors are getting worried about it. Well, after all it's their business. Now isn't it?

Me, I gotta get a new girdle.

Your old strip tease, Streamer.

Ford Leads by One In Rubber City Open

AKRON, O., (UP)—Doug Ford, newly-crowned PGA champion, led a tough competitive field today into the second round of the $15,000 rubber-city open tournament.

The Kiamasha Lake, N.Y., pro, pushed a "hot" putter to card a six under par 66 Thursday, but he had stiff competition from 19 other golfers in the field of 150. Ford's lead was one stroke over six second-place finishers and two strokes over seven others who carded 68's in the first 18 holes.

One stroke behind Ford with 67's were Mike Homa, Rye, N.Y., Al Balding, Erindale, Ont., Ralph Bloomquist, Glendale, Calif.; Ed. Oliver, Lemont, Ill.; Art Wall, Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., and Dutch Harrison, St. Louis, Mo.

Ford's 32 on the front nine was matched by Jack Burke, Jr., also of Kiamasha Lake, N.Y., but Burke faltered in the backstretch and ended with a par 36 to tie for third place with six others.

They were Henry Ransom, St. Andrews, Ill.; Bud Holscher, Apple Valley, Calif.; Dow Flinstewald, Bedford Heights, O.; Fred Hawkins, St. Andrews, Ill.; Al Mengert, Mamaroneck, N.Y., and George Bingham, Kansas City, Mo.

Tommy Bolt, the defending champion, sailed over the front nine with a 33, but couldn't get his putter working on the back nine. He took a 37 coming in for an 18-hole total of 70.

Tri-Service Track Meet Highland Games Feature

Armed forces athletes will flex their muscles and make use of their weight Saturday at the 1955 Tri-Service track and field championships of British Columbia.

The big meet of the season for services athletes is being held in conjunction with the 18th annual Highland Games at Royal Athletic Park.

Action starts at 9 a.m. with Highland piping, dancing and band competitions. The track meet gets under way at 2.15 p.m.

Two highly rated stars—one from the Navy and one from the Air Force—will meet in the sprints.

Running under Navy blue colors will be AB Anderson, winner of the grand aggregate championship at the Navy championships last week.

For the Army it will be Sgt. Rostek, who will be seeking a new record in the 100-yard event. Present services record stands at 9.5 seconds.

Outstanding athlete from the Air Force is expected to be Ft. Leut. Noel Lyon, a specialist in the high and broad jump.

He still holds three records set when he was a cadet at Royal Roads.

Also shooting for top honors will be David Swanbeck of HMCS Naden, fresh from major victories scored in the 100-mile and relay events at All-Sooke Day last week-end.

Lieut. "Scoop" Hibbert, well known for his former athletic performances in this area, will represent the Navy in a 50-yard sprint for veterans over 40 years of age.

Sgt. Maj. Buxton will run for Army in this event. It is not known if the Air Force will have an entrant or not.

Johnson In Trouble

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A Philadelphia firm Thursday brought suit against light heavyweight boxer Harold Johnson seeking to recover a trap drum, a gold-plated tenor saxophone and an amplifier.

Henry E. Glass and company said in a municipal court action that the fighter bought the instruments and the amplifier—valued at $619—on the installment plan last April 19, hasn't made any payments since May and still owes $319.50.

Johnson recently was suspended by the Pennsylvania athletic commission as a result of his May 6 fight here with Julio Mederos. The commission charged that Johnson was unable to answer the bell for the third round because he had been drugged before entering the ring.

New Deputy Minister Named for Veterans

OTTAWA (CP)—Appointment of Lieut.-Col. Lucien Lalonde, 47, to be deputy minister of veterans' affairs was announced Thursday by Prime Minister St. Laurent. The appointment was made because of the continued absence of the former deputy, Maj.-Gen. E. L. Burns, appointed Aug. 11, 1954, as chief of the United Nations truce commission in Palestine. Mr. Lalonde has been assistant deputy minister for six years.

Mr. St. Laurent also announced Clare Moyer, 67, clerk of the Senate for more than 16 years, will retire Oct. 22 and be replaced by John F. MacNeill, 57, law clerk and parliamentary counsel of the Senate since 1942.

J. Edouard Handy, 44, curator of Laurier House, was appointed secretary of the federal district commission. Mr. Handy is former private secretary to the late prime minister Mackenzie King.

Simultaneous appointments announced by Justice Minister Carson included that of former New Brunswick Liberal premier John B. McNair, 65, to that province's Supreme Court.

Adrien Cormier of Moncton, N.B., was appointed county judge for Kent and Westmorland counties and Gabriel Belau registrar of the Exchequer Court of Canada.

400 to Protest Smoke Nuisance From City Mills

Nearly 400 city residents will present a petition at a special city council meeting Monday calling for action to combat industrial smoke and cinder nuisance.

The petitioners are headed by W. A. McPhee, 620 Dundas. They all live north and west of the mill area.

The petition charges that although the smoke by-law was passed in 1951, it has never been fully enforced.

But Alderman Arthur Dowell, head of the public works committee, said there had been no complaints to council or his committee for a long time.

The by-law says smoke so dense it cannot be seen through more than six minutes in any hour. Smoke which can be seen through dimly may only flow from stacks for 10 minutes out of any hour.

The petitioners say there have been numerous violations without prosecution.

Fallen Branch Severs Lines, Blocks Traffic

B.C. Electric line crew were called out after 9 p.m. Thursday when a 40-foot branch fell from a tree on Government Street opposite the Legislative Buildings.

The falling bough cut phone and power lines and blocked traffic.

The crews worked until midnight repairing damage and clearing the street. Police took over traffic direction when the traffic lights were shut off at Belleville and Government. Officials said the tree was rotted.

Sergeant Slayer Starts Life Term

BIELFELD, Germany (CP)—Irish-born Sgt. Frederick Emmett Dunne, 32, of the British army Thursday left for a prison in Britain to serve a life sentence for murdering a fellow-sergeant whose wife he later married. At his court martial he was sentenced to be hanged but the sentence was commuted because West Germany has no death penalty.

DR. McLEAN'S OPINION

Mainland Invasion By Chiang 'Unlikely'

It is "unlikely" the troops of Chiang Kai-shek will ever see mainland China unless there is war between the United States and Red China, former Presbyterian Church moderator and pastor of St. Andrew's here, told the Rotary Club Thursday.

Very Rev. T. Lewis W. McLean called Chiang's troops "aging," and said chances of the Nationalists were "getting slimmer and slimmer." The doctor returned from a six-week visit to Formosa early this year.

With U.S. money, the Nationalist leader was trying to produce a model state to counteract any mainland improvements brought about by the Communist regime, he said.

Formosa economy is false, because it is based largely on U.S. aid.

"If this was withdrawn, it is anybody's guess what would happen."

POLICE STATE

There is no government for the people by the people on Formosa, said Dr. McLean. It is not a democracy.

"It is described accurately as a police state."

In the capital of Formosa were 13,000 secret police, operating under Chiang's son. If Chiang took over supreme control, he predicted the life of the people would change, as the son had received a portion of his education in Russia.

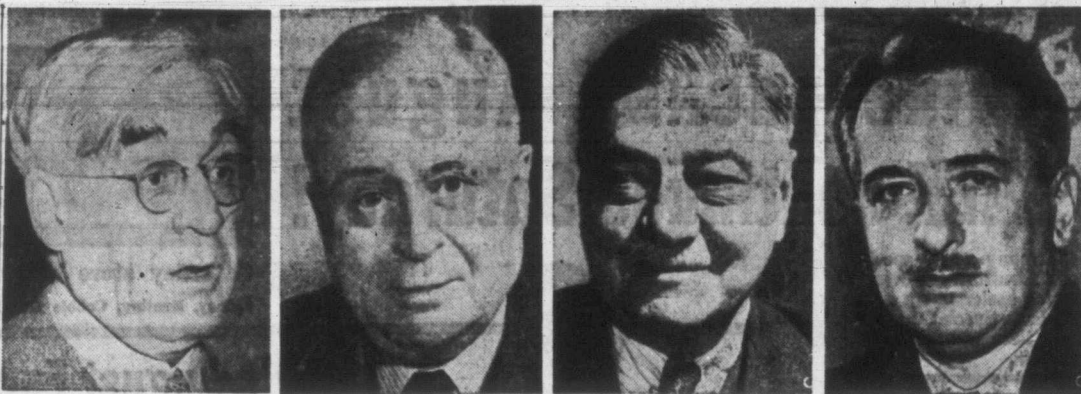

As the situation stands the island has about 9,000,000 people, only 6,000,000 of whom are native Formosans. The remainder are people who have fled the mainland to be under the Nationalist banner.

ALWAYS TENSE

There are up to 900,000 soldiers on Formosa today.

"The situation on Formosa is one of tenseness at all times."

One thing not often brought to the public mind, said the doctor, was the 1947 purge by Chiang of anti-Nationalists, when "numbers were liquidated."

13 New Senators Include P.E.I. Woman

OTTAWA (CP)—Breaking sharply with past practice, Prime Minister St. Laurent Thursday named a prominent Progressive Conservative as one of 13 Senate appointments.

Mr. St. Laurent said the new senators are entering the upper chambers not as Liberals but as Canadians and are "perfectly independent."

The Conservative is John T. Hackett, 71, member of parliament for Stanstead, Quebec, from 1930 to 1935 and from 1945 to 1949. Like the prime minister, he is a former president of the Canadian Bar Association and the two have a personal friendship going back to school days.

While eight of the 13 new senators have close Liberal ties, the other four have no apparent party connections.

A new woman senator is Mrs. Florence Elsie Inman of Montague, P.E.I., a widow who operates a hotel and is president of the Prince Edward Island Women's Liberal Federation.

The three Liberal Commons members elevated to the Senate are David Croll, 55, member for Toronto Spadina since 1945, former mayor of Windsor, Ont., former Ontario cabinet minister and first Jewish member of the Senate; Hon. C. G. (Chubby) Power, 67, wartime air minister, headed the Banff School of Fine Arts since 1936.

Harold Connolly, 53, of Halifax, former Liberal premier of Nova Scotia.

Thomas D'Arcy Leonard, Q.C. president and general manager of the Canada Permanent Trust Co.

Dr. Fred A. McGrand, 60, of Fredericton, former Speaker and Liberal health minister in New Brunswick.

Hartland de Montarville Molson, 48, of Montreal, secretary and a director of Molson's Brewery Ltd. and a governor of McGill University.

Calixte F. Savoie, 60, of Moncton, N.C., president and general manager of Societe Mutuelle l'Assomption.

Dr. Donald Smith, 50, Liverpool, N.S., dentist and former Liberal M.P.

William M. Wall, 44, of Winnipeg, a Ukrainian Catholic who is administrative assistant to the Winnipeg superintendent of schools and a former Liberal party official.

One of the 10 remaining Senate vacancies is in B.C. Last Senate appointment was Senator Nancy Hodges of Victoria in 1953.

PARLIAMENT EXPECTED TO SIT AGAIN JAN. 22

OTTAWA (CP)—Third session of the 22nd Parliament is expected to meet next January, Prime Minister St. Laurent said Thursday.

He also told a press conference he hopes that changes made to Commons rules at the session which prorogued Thursday will permit all future Parliaments to be called at the first of the year.

BATTALION BUGLES of the Queen's Own Rifles will play a feature role at 1955 18th annual tri-service track and field championships Saturday at 2:15 p.m. in conjunction with Highland Games in Royal Athletic Park. The 28-man band led by Bugle Major "Lucky" Dwyer,

Highland Games Program Jam-Packed With Gala Events

Kilted dancers from as far east as Edmonton and Calgary will be competing for honors Saturday at the 18th annual Highland Games at Royal Athletic Park.

The Scottish dancing is to be one of the most colorful attractions at the one-day event.

Pipers also will compete for honors and there will be a colorful pipe band march-past competition.

Provincial tri-service track and field championships will be run off as part of the games.

Winners of each event will be presented with miniature trophies or medals.

A total of 125 entries have been received in the dancing events.

Dancers will be coming from Portland, Seattle, Vancouver, Abbotsford, Edmonton, Calgary, Duncan and Nanaimo. There are many local entries, of course.

About 25 pipers—one from Huntington Park in California—will take part in various competitions.

Mainland and up-Island armed forces athletes were flown here from various centres Thursday night for the track and field events.

The Highland Games will start at 9 a.m. and continue through to 6 p.m. Sports events will feature the afternoon part of the show.

Youth Admits City Jewel Theft

Charge Laid In Rose's Haul

Charges in connection with two recent Victoria jewel robberies cracked Thursday have been laid against two Saanich teenagers and a Vancouver man. Also an unconfirmed report today said RCMP at Vancouver had turned up part of the loot in a $10,000 jewel robbery here 10 years ago.

GUILTY PLEA

John William Gale, 18, 3029 Tillicum, pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of breaking and entering and theft at the jewelry shop of Edwin Rowbotham, 1615 Douglas.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall remanded him to Tuesday.

No circumstances were given in court.

A 17-year-old Saanich juvenile was remanded to Wednesday without plea when charged in Victoria juvenile court Thursday in connection with the Rowbotham burglary.

City police said they have recovered a major portion of the loot taken at Rowbotham's. Watches, rings, watch straps and bracelets and one necklace were recovered in Saanich and Esquimalt.

Gale was taken into custody shortly before noon Thursday following 1:20 a.m. arrest of the 17-year-old youth.

City prosecutor Alan Bigelow said he hoped to speed up disposition of the 17-year-old's case. About $1,000 worth of jewelry was taken from Rowbotham's.

RETAINING CHARGE

Charge of retaining stolen goods was laid Thursday in Vancouver against John Albert Martin, 31, in connection with $36,000 theft of watches from Rose's Ltd. Jewelers, 1317 Douglas on May 17.

Martin was remanded to August 5 on $7,500 bail when he appeared in court today.

Vancouver detectives smashed down doors of a Howe Street house early Thursday and recovered $26,000 worth of watches—434—stolen in Victoria's largest jewel theft.

Still missing is about $10,000 in watches.

Thieves chopped a hole in an upstairs floor at Rose's and then dropped into the jewelry store. They opened a door connected with a burglar alarm, but the alarm failed to go off.

1945 ROBBERY

Entry was also made by chopping a hole in an upstairs floor when thieves made off with $10,000 worth of watches and rings from Rose's on November 24, 1945.

A report said Vancouver RCMP had recovered also some of the loot taken in that raid.

Mt. Douglas Park Improvements To Cost $2,350

An 11-point improvement program for Mount Douglas Park, to cost $2,350, was agreed upon by Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee Thursday.

Money will be used to install toilets in the concession building, provide flood lights, clear brush, widen the main driveway, move the youth hostel cabins, repair the roof of the main building, erect a new archway over the entrance, cut lower limbs from trees between the driveway and playing field, and install an oil furnace in the concession building.

Nearly half-$1,000, was already earmarked for improvements.

Nanaimo Boy Wins Big Jamboree Trip

Wayne Stilling, 15, of Nanaimo, well known as a competitor in Victoria soap box derby races, has won an essay contest entitling him to a free trip to the eighth Boy Scout World Jamboree.

He is one of 60 in B.C. and 50 in Canada to qualify in the contest, sponsored by the Bank of Nova Scotia. The bank will pay transportation and all expenses for the youngsters during the Jamboree Aug. 18-28 at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont.

Ex-Prairie Residents To Visit Home Towns

Former prairie residents from Victoria and Vancouver will visit their old home towns this fall on a special all-expense tour being organized by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The tour leaves from Vancouver Sept. 10, and a one-day stopover at Banff en route to prairie points is included.

New Financing Plan For Gorge Waterway

A new plan for financing the Gorge reclamation program will be presented by city alderman Geoffrey Edgewood at a special meeting of the Gorge Waterway Improvement Association Aug. 16.

The group is comprised of representatives of the provincial and federal governments, Victoria, Saanich and Esquimalt.

Chairman Edgewood said today that he could not disclose details at this time. He added that Mayor Claude Harrison has requested information which will also be heard at the meeting.

The mayor has asked reports on what will be necessary in order to divert city sewers which now empty into the inner harbor and contribute to Gorge pollution.

The intermunicipal and inter-governmental plan for furthering a definite plan for furthering the project this year. A five-year plan aims at removing pollution and reclaiming the Gorge as an aquatic playground.

SNEAK PLAY BEAT STORM BLOCK BUT WEATHER TO GET BETTER

The weatherman emerged from his storm shelter today, took off his goggles, smiled weakly, and said things should get a little better, starting today.

What happened Thursday, he explained, was an unpredictable pivot on the part of a high-pressure ridge which was supposed to protect us from a storm area which has been lurking nearby all week.

"The ridge swung from a north to south direction to an east to west direction," he explained, "and let the storm sneak in on us."

Today, while not wildly optimistic, the weatherman feels we'll have a variable mixture of clouds and sunshine.

"Cloudy with sunny periods," he ventures, cautiously. "Not much change in temperature—perhaps a wee 'bit warmer," he adds.

16 Cases of TB Found by X-Ray

Unsuspected Cases Detected In Four-Month Survey Here

By PETE LOUDON

Sixteen cases of unsuspected tuberculosis were discovered during a four-month X-ray survey conducted in this area during the early spring, it was announced today.

Health authorities say the disease was found among workers at city department stores, Legislative Buildings, shipyards and in almost every field of industry which was checked.

All of the 16 cases have been hospitalized and are well on the way to recovery due to early detection of the disease.

In an interview with director of the Vancouver Island Chest Centre, Dr. R. M. Lane, and city public health educator Keith Macdonald, the Times was told the newly discovered cases do not indicate a resurgence of the disease.

TB has sharply declined in this area since the late 40s, the officials said. They laid the increased detection to the system of examining workers on the job. A portable X-ray unit was taken to work centres and in many cases, management made the inspection compulsory for employees.

A previous survey in 1953 was done on a voluntary basis with those who wanted X-rays going to a central location. Only one case was detected at that time.

Similar negligible results were noted in a more general survey started in 1948 when 19,175 people were examined.

Less TB Among Young People

The survey revealed that less TB is being detected among younger people. All of the cases discovered in the survey were in older age groups. The tests covered Greater Victoria, Sidney, Sooke, Ganges and Jordan River. Over 19,000 were examined.

The program was launched by the Provincial Division of TB control under direction of local health units. The portable X-ray was provided through sale of TB Christmas seals by B.C. Tuberculosis Society.

Dr. Lane said that the unit went to district high schools and examined senior students and all teachers and school maintenance staffs but located no sign of the disease.

In the Chinese community a two-day survey discovered four cases.

Dr. Lane said deaths from TB are a rarity now in people under the age of 50, and he credited new drugs with fast recovery. There were only nine deaths attributed to the disease on Vancouver Island (pop. 220,000) last year. The average stay in hospital is less than a year. There are 78 patients now under treatment in Victoria's two treatment centres at Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals.

A wider acceptance of the need for periodic X-ray examination is greatly aiding the fight against the disease, the doctor said. Many employers phoned his office and asked to be included in the survey. Others made an X-ray a condition of employment.

And admission at both city hospitals includes an X-ray examination. The clinic at Jubilee does about 10,000 examinations a year as well.

50 Cases Detected Annually

He said that the works cost about 25 cents a picture. Normally, about 50 cases of TB are discovered in this way each year in the Greater Victoria and surrounding area.

The recent survey also resulted in location of about 250 "doubtful" cases, each of whom submitted to further X-rays. These were all found to be other than active tuberculosis.

He revealed the highest percentage of TB infection is found among alcoholics or slum area residents. Although one in 4,000 examinations proves positive in residential and business areas, in Okalla prison the rate is one in 400. These results are from examinations when the prisoner is admitted to the jail. In England the incidence is three to five per 1,000 population.

Dr. Lane added that his department favors continuous examinations and thought that if more equipment were made available it would be in constant use.

He pointed out that anyone may obtain free X-ray examination at the clinic at the rear of Royal Jubilee Hospital, Monday to Fridays, between 9:30 a.m. and 12 noon, and 1:30 and 4 p.m.

Overnight Race Set By RVYC Saturday

Annual overnight race for A and C Class yachts of Royal Victoria Yacht Club is scheduled for Saturday night, starting time 7:30 p.m., over a 32-mile course.

Approximately 12 yachts will take part in the exciting race, most of which is sailed in hours of darkness.

The course will be from the Cadboro Bay clubhouse, around Jeremy Jones Island, to Zero Rock, to Heine Bank, and back to Cadboro Bay.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Will you please tell me what animals in B.C. have a bounty. What part of the animal must be shown, and where is it to be taken?

A.—In former years wolves, coyotes and cougars carried bounties. The payment was $25 on wolves and cougars, $4 on coyotes. Recently the bounties on wolves and coyotes were discontinued. The hunters submitted the whole hide of each wolf and each coyote to the nearest game warden as proof of his kills. Each hide was cancelled by means of a hole punched in the left ear. For cougars the bounty is $20. Professional hunters who keep trained dogs are paid a bonus of $20 for each cougar killed in excess of five. These hunters may be called to any district in which the cougar population is becoming too numerous and is causing losses.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve riddles.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

A pal of mine, who is a summer bachelor for the first time this year, has reached some interesting conclusions with regard to housework.

"I approached housework with some trepidation," he confesses. "Throughout our married life, my wife had often commented on the arduous chores constantly confronting the housewife."

"To hear her tell it," my pal says, "a slave laborer in a concentration camp lives a life of ease compared to the poor downtrodden housewife."

Now, after a month of summer batching, my pal ventures to disagree with his wife's assessment of housework.

"Housework need be no trouble at all," he says. "The trouble with my wife—and I guess all wives—is they make such a fuss about housework. I have only been at this housework racket for a short time, but I have already developed a system to make things easy for myself."

My pal, generous soul that he is, offers to share the details of his system with other summer bachelors.

Housework made easy:

1. Dishes. Don't do dishes too often. That is the secret of not working too hard at doing dishes. As dishes are dirtied, pile them neatly to left or right or both of the sink. When all dishes in the house are dirty, wash them. (My pal hasn't arrived at this stage yet, due to eating in a nice little restaurant he's found around the corner.)

2. Beds. Don't make them too often. Even the most neatly made bed becomes unmade seconds after it is slept in. Therefore, making beds is a losing battle and should not be done very often.

3. Rug cleaning. Don't clean rugs very often. It is no more trouble to vacuum a really dirty rug than a fairly dirty rug, so let rugs get really filthy before cleaning.

4. Dusting. See rug cleaning.

5. Waxing and polishing. See dusting and rug cleaning.

6. Cleaning windows. See waxing, polishing, dusting and rug cleaning.

7. Defrosting and cleaning refrigerator. See cleaning windows....

But you get the idea. My pal, like all males, has the sensible approach to housework, and I am sure he'll get along fine.

Until his wife comes home.

'FEW AT HOME'

Pakistani General Tests B.C. Fishing

BY AB KENT

A Pakistani major-general who began his military service with the Royal Scots Regiment, trained in England, now serves in Ottawa and Washington and feels "very much at home in Victoria," went fishing this morning in Saanich Inlet.

Maj.-Gen. Hayaud Dim is military advisor to the Pakistani High Commissioner to Canada and the U.S. presently making an informal tour of defence establishments in both countries.

"I'm new," he said in cultured, friendly tones at Work Point Garrison officers' mess Thursday. "I've come on tour to acquaint myself with my parish."

But he also likes fishing, and in his home province of West Pakistan there is "little water and fewer fishes."

There being more of each here, Wes Fulton, chairman of the Times-Victoria Anglers' Association derby, took the smiling officer out in his boat in search of salmon. It was not known if the search was successful.

This afternoon the general was to visit Royal Roads Canadian Services College, then he and Madam Dim were to dine with commanding Capt. John Charles and Mrs. Charles.

TO GAMES

Saturday, Lieut.-Col. Jack Fawcett, commanding officer of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's), will take the general to the Highland Games in Royal Athletic Park.

He will make a flying trip to Vancouver Sunday, returning to Victoria that night and leaving for Ottawa via Seattle and the U.S. Monday morning.

Thursday he inspected Work Point Barracks, Gordon Head Camp and visited the Scottish at Bay Street Armoury.

Maj.-Gen. Dim, who was chief of the general staff in Pakistan's 70,000-man modern army, thinks the Canadian Army is "very good," and wishes his troops had some of the later equipment used in this country.

NOBLE PROFESSION

In his largely agricultural homeland, soldiering is looked upon as a noble profession, he said, and there is no need for conscription.

The greatest handicap to the army is its lack of technicians for such units as the service corps. Mechanical knowledge is not as widespread as it is in North America.

It is the officer's second trip to Victoria, the first having been a rush visit in 1952 as a student of Britain's Imperial Defence College.

"I feel very much at home in Victoria," he is so like England," said Gen. Dim. "On the streets I feel as though I am walking down Piccadilly or Regent Street, and the people treat me as though I were at home."

The disparity in relative cost of living in Canada and Pakistan struck the militarist. In Rawalpindi 10 cents,

Fires Damage Home, Garage In Saanich

Firemen Credited With Quick Work

A fire which started when clothes hanging from a rack directly over a gas stove broke out in flames caused considerable interior damage Thursday to the Saanich home of F. J. Hiley, 1631 Ruby Road.

A second Saanich fire Thursday afternoon gutted a shed and garage owned by T. Raper, 3990 Cedar Hill Road.

Saanich firemen said damage at the Ruby Road fire was confined mainly to a kitchen, bedroom and front room.

Flames burned through walls, charred walls and blistered paint. Furniture was also damaged.

A sister of Mr. Hiley, Mrs. Kirk, turned in the alarm. Mrs. Kirk was looking after the house while the Hileys were on holiday.

The cottage is owned by David Dyke of Sidney.

Firemen were alerted at about 12:30 p.m.

CAR SAVED

Mr. Raper was able to back his car from the garage on Cedar Hill Road, but lost several tools and some electric motors in the blaze.

When firemen arrived flames were licking at the corner of his home about 12 feet from the shed.

Fire occurred at about 3:30 p.m. Smoke from the blaze could be seen from a long distance.

Lester Pearson To Speak Here On August 26

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson, who is coming to B.C. in August to open the Pacific National Exhibition at Vancouver, will make two public addresses in Victoria.

At noon on August 26 he will speak at a joint meeting of Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs, and on the evening of the same day will address the Laurier Club.

Ex-Prairie Residents To Visit Home Towns

Former prairie residents from Victoria and Vancouver will visit their old home towns this fall on a special all-expense tour being organized by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The tour leaves from Vancouver Sept. 10, and a one-day stopover at Banff en route to prairie points is included.

ESQUIMALT NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Cruiser Ontario at Balboa. Destroyers Cayuga and Athabaskan leave Hilo Sunday, arrive Long Beach August 7.

Minesweepers Comox and Fortune return to Esquimalt 6:30 p.m. today.

Museum Expedition to Study Life on Remote Bunsby Is.

A three-man provincial museum expedition will leave Victoria next week to study plant and wild life on a remote island off the west coast of Vancouver Island.

The expedition headed by Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the museum, hopes to leave next Tuesday for Bunsby Island, situated a few miles north of Kyuquot Sound. The group will camp a week on the island before returning to the city.

The scientists will collect mammals, plants and will note the bird life on Bunsby.

The expedition is part of a program to survey biological aspects of all islands off the coast of Vancouver Island. The survey began in 1949 when a museum group explored little-known Triangle Island where winds frequently blow over 100 miles an hour.

The party this year will include Charlie Guiguet, biologist, and Adam Szczawinski, botanist.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Fernand Gibault, 151 Superior, was fined $35 or five days in jail when he pleaded guilty Thursday in Saanich police court to a careless driving charge.

Court was told the accused was driving west on Ruby Road, July 20, when his car went out of control and travelled 50 feet in a ditch and struck a culvert.

Fine of $100 or 30 days in jail was imposed on James C. Hutchison, 1317 Carrick, when he pleaded guilty in Saanich police court to a charge of dumping garbage on Cordova Bay Road, July 19.

Police said the accused dumped three boxes containing broken jars, bottles, potato peelings, old clothes and papers.

Tennis tournament for city youngsters has attracted an entry of more than 100. Gordon Hartley, city playground supervisors, reminds all entrants to report to Central Park courts Monday at 9:30 a.m.

Fifth in a series of broadcasts by Summer School faculty members will be heard on the PTA program, CJVI, Sunday at 9:30 a.m. Miss Sadie Boyles, King Edward High School, will discuss "Why French in Our Schools?"

Charge of exceeding a 50 mph limit June 30 on East Saanich Road brought a fine of $30 or five days in jail for Frederick Ditttrick, when he pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Thursday.

Heavy rains at Vancouver caused cancellation of two TCA round trip flights from Victoria to the mainland overnight, but service is back to normal today.

The rain cut visibility at Vancouver international airport. Queen Charlotte Airlines was also forced to cancel flights.

Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee Thursday turned down a request by Saanich Police Revolver Club to turn Mount Douglas gravel pit into a shooting range.

Winners in the final Victoria Duplicate Bridge club tournament were: North-South: Mrs. Ethel Cleworth and Bill Simpson-Baikie; Michael Bruce and Otto Leeseant; Les Stewart and Mrs. Elizabeth W. Stewart.

East-West: Miss Eleanor Gordon and Mrs. Lil Tattersall, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Duprau, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Druce.

Fall season will start September 22.

SHOPPING GUIDE

'To Market, To Market...' To Stock-Up for Week-End

By PENNY SAVER

Weather permitting, many families will migrate to beaches and picnic spots for meals this week-end. What could be better, both health-wise and convenient-wise, than fresh fruits? There aren't many types that you could name that aren't on the market right now. The colors and aromas that surround the fresh foods stands is a real joy. Bananas are two pounds for 33 cents, coconuts, 28 cents each, cantaloupe, 20 cents each, and large gooseberries, 25 cents a pound. Apricots are appearing, too, at 20 cents and 25 cents a pound, depending on the size. In the same family, nectarines, a cross between a peach and apricot, are selling at two for 25 cents.

Peaches are 23 cents for three, and Bartlett pears are four for 29 cents. Rhubarb is now 25 cents for four pounds, and local Bing cherries are 32 cents a pound. On the berry scene, raspberries are 20 cents a box for the big juicy ones, and smaller, sweet ones are two boxes for 15 cents. Loganberries are two boxes for 25 cents, and they sure have a wonderful aroma to them. Cherry red strawberries are various prices, but the medium seems to be about 55 cents for two boxes.

Do you like sweet plums? Santa Rosa plums, a summer favorite, are now 29 cents a pound. Seedless grapes are 25 cents a pound. Transparent apples, so super for pies, tarts, and just plain eating are beginning to show themselves, at 35 cents for two pounds. Have you ever tried apple and loganberry pies. The mixture of the two flavors is terrific. Black currants are 38 cents for a four-pound box, and red currants are 79 cents for the same-sized box. Luscious and rich watermelon is down to six cents a pound, so go to it.

Vegetables, perfect for summer meals, are also in abundance. Local beets are three bunches for 25 cents, while romaine is 15 cents a head. Endives are 18 cents a head, and celery, 17 cents. Lettuce is 10 cents, while two bunches of green onions for that crispy salad cost 13 cents. Mushrooms, the huge, tender ones I love, are 39 cents for a half-pound. Fresh beans are 35 cents a pound.

AS WE LIVE

Criticism Won't Cure Self-Consciousness

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

The one thing a self-conscious person cannot accept without serious damage to himself is criticism.

(Q)—"My daughter is 16 years old, quite pretty, intelligent, polite, and good at sports. I feel that she has as much to offer as most of the girls in her class at high school, if not more. But she has a dreadful inferiority complex and is very self-conscious. I am always telling her how foolish she is to feel as she does, that she is spoiling her girlhood by this attitude, and that she cannot hope to have dates if she is so self-conscious that it embarrasses the boys to be with her. Even when my friends are around, I have to tell her to come out and be sociable, not to let 'the cat get her tongue.' I have tried to help her, but she seems to be getting worse. Can you suggest anything for me to do?"

(A)—You have tried to help your daughter, but from what you say in your letter it appears that you have gone about it in the wrong way. You are responsible for the increase in her self-consciousness, though you do not realize it.

A self-conscious person is very sensitive to criticism. She feels more inadequate with each new criticism, and this adds to her self-consciousness. This, of course, does not mean that you should not criticize your daughter when she does the wrong thing. However, your criticism should be positive and constructive, not negative and destructive, as it has been.

Do all you can to emphasize your daughter's good qualities to her, so she will focus attention on them. Never embarrass her by making fun of her self-consciousness in front of others. Instead, ignore it and suggest something for her to do so she will think of what she is doing instead of herself.

The more you can praise her in private, the sooner she will improve her attitude about herself. Avoid praise in front of others until you are sure she has enough self-confidence not to be embarrassed about it.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "I am a young girl of 17 and am very self-conscious about having under arm body odor. Bathing doesn't seem to help and neither do deodorants. Please tell me what to do. Is there medical aid?"

A. If the suggestions I give you today do not remedy the situation I think you would be wise to see a physician concerning this problem.

In the first place, if you perspire a lot, one bath a day is not enough, especially in hot weather. Also, be sure to keep the hair under your arms well shaved. Perhaps some of the fault may lie in the fact that you do not change dress shields and undergarments often enough.

People vary in such matters but if you perspire freely and your perspiration has an especially strong odor, you must take extreme measures and give more than normal thought to a change of undergarments every day, use deodorants more frequently, take more than one bath a day. You might also try a different brand in deodorants.

Q. "How can I lose a double chin. I developed it while I had mumps."

A. The double chin you developed while you had mumps will go away of its own volition. However, the following exercise is corrective to a real double chin.

Lie across the bed on your back with your head and shoulders hanging off the edge of the bed. With your head still in this position turn it from side to side, as far in each direction as you can comfortably.

Q. "My arms are flabby above the elbow. I am young and can't understand why my arms are so flabby. Could you give me an exercise to correct this condition?"

A. Swimming is perfect. Why not take advantage of it this summer for fun as well as for flabby upper arms. Do this one, too.

Clutch bag with a difference is one that's as long and thin as a business envelope.

Start it early, if you're going to do it, but two smart parents have discovered that their baby doesn't mind having the light turned off at night because he "helps." At first, he only flapped at the switch, but now he does it himself.

If you perspire freely you must use deodorants and cologne frequently to stay lovely.

Stand tall; bend your elbows as you clench your fists and pull your elbows down close to your sides at waist height, palms toward the ceiling. Now extend your arms forward, shoulder height and shoulder width apart and turn palms toward the floor. Again bend, clench and bring elbows close to sides. Do this vigorously. Continue.

Q. "I would appreciate it if you would help me. All my friends think that I am fat. I am enclosing all my measurements and my weight so you can tell me how much I need to lose. I have a medium frame. I am 18 years old, weigh 134 pounds and am five feet, six inches tall. My bust measures 37 inches, waist 26 and hips 36."

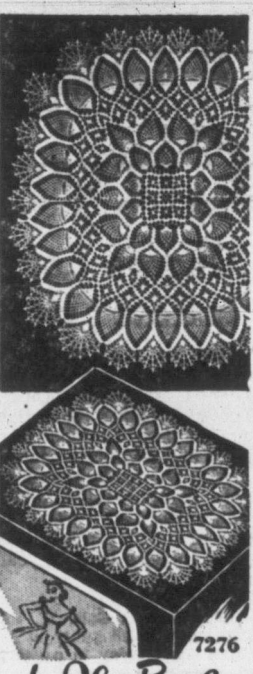

A. You should lose five or six pounds. Your measurements are good. You are not really fat.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Many girl babies learn to walk pushing a doll carriage. What's a boy baby to learn with? First, patience, don't hurry him. Second, he'll probably discover he can push his eating table, if it's on wheels, or his own stroller. At any rate, he'll learn.

Coleslaw for Summer Salad

One of the all-time favorite salads is coleslaw. You will find it a crisp, tasty salad accent to hundreds of main dishes, from a picnic frankfurter to a party-going broiled lobster. It is a most nutritious salad, scoring high in vitamins A and C. It also is economical.

The word coleslaw comes from the Dutch "kool slaw," meaning cabbage salad. Today there are many versions of coleslaw to give it interest and eye-appeal for any special menu. Use different dressings with the shredded cabbage. Or give coleslaw new color and flavor by adding shredded carrots, green onions or other vegetables. Fruits such as fresh grapes or canned pineapple chunks are good in coleslaw, too.

For your enjoyment we suggest a special coleslaw. This salad makes the most of the color contrast of red and green cabbage served in individual bowls. The same dressing is used for both red and green slaw. It is easy to make. Just flavor commercial salad dressing with salad style to get the perfect dressing for slaw. Here is an easy garnishing trick. Before serving, top each portion of coleslaw with a spoonful of the salad dressing as it comes from the jar.

Half cup salad dressing, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1/4 cup cream, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash of seasoned salt, dash of black pepper, 1 cup shredded red cabbage, 1 cup shredded green cabbage, lettuce, salad dressing.

Combine the 1/4 cup of salad dressing, mustard, cream and seasonings. Add half of this dressing to the red cabbage and half of the dressing to the green cabbage and toss lightly. Chill well and serve on crisp lettuce in individual salad bowls. Top each portion with a spoonful of salad dressing.

In Honor of the Bride

Mrs. H. G. Milburn, a recent Vancouver bride, was surprised with a miscellaneous shower given by the groom's aunt, Mrs. V. Milburn, 2371 Hamiota Street recently. A pink and blue decorated box held the many gifts, and a corsage of pink Ophelia roses was presented to the guest of honor. The groom's mother, Mrs. R. Milburn, received red roses, and her mother, Mrs. W. Milburn, roses with mauve and pink stocks. The lace-covered dining table was centred with a crystal bowl of pale pink rosebuds flanked by tall white candles. Mrs. G. Jasper presided at the table, assisted by the groom's aunt, Mrs. Etta McGraw, and Mrs. R. Jewell. Present were Mrs. H. Amas, Mrs. Bob Day, Mrs. Ralph Hussey, Mrs. W. Milburn, Mrs. E. MacGraw, Mrs. C. H. Mills, Mrs. A. Archer, Mrs. G. Osborne and Mrs. V. Druce.

Miss Arlene Scouler, August bride-elect, was feted last evening with a miscellaneous shower given in her honor by Mrs. E. McHugh, of Campbell River, and Mrs. A. Adamson, aunts of the bride-elect. The party was held at the home of the latter at 169 Olive Street. Little Frances McHugh, Frances Martin and Carol Adamson presented carnation corsages to the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. J. Scouler, Jr.; her paternal grandmother, Mrs. J. M. Scouler, Sr., and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. A. Martin. An all-white bride doll stood near the pink and white decorated umbrella which held the gifts. A pink and white shower cake flanked by vases of rosebuds centred the lace cloth covered refreshment table. Invited guests were Mrs. N. Smith, from Squamish, B.C., Mrs. D. Lauder, Mrs. S. Scouler, Mrs. P. Moore, Mrs. U. Hurley, Misses Pat Hurley, Penny Scouler and Donna Adamson.

Paris Fashions

Lean to New Youthful Lines

PARIS (Reuters)—Paris fashion shows opened Thursday on the revolutionary theme that the anemic "French" look of the last three seasons is on the way out.

Leading the trend for a healthier, more rounded woman of fashion is the house of Jean Patou. Patou's designer, Marc Bohan, gave the house an entirely new and youthful approach to French haute couture.

Shoulders are wider again. Without being obviously padded, they now have a rounded look. The skinny appearance of coats and suits is definitely passed for Patou at least.

FORMAL WEAR

For formal wear the draped midriff cut with back fullness often takes on a princess line, marked with fabric contrasts or embroidery.

Colors feature blacks and browns and soft grey brown hues. Pussy willow grey is effective for evening, in short grey tulle ballerina formal, shown under a full hooded cloak of this cloudy grey velvet. Large triangular scarves of coordinated fabric replace classic stoles or jackets on other formal models.

Millinery is small, symmetrical and tipped forward.

Neat bumper brimmed rollers and twisted turbans or pillboxes are worn over snug jersey helmets which swathe the throat and tuck into the neckline of the costume.

Plan Projects At a Picnic

Members of the Women's Auxiliary to Royal Jubilee Hospital who attended a picnic recently at the Cadboro Bay home of Mrs. J. L. Hobbs were busy during the afternoon, knitting and sewing for a future garden party. Plans were made for a rummage sale in the fall. Thirty members were present, also two guests from the United States.

First of Its Kind

Sponsored by the YWCA, the first open-air art display of work done by local artists will be presented in and around Cameron Pavilion in Beacon Hill Park this Sunday from 2.30 to 4.30 p.m. The display is open to the public.

Names Given to Baby Boy

Happy in his mother's arms is seven-month-old Gregory Lindfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Joy, 3921 Hobbs road. He received his names in a christening ceremony performed by Rev. T. R. McAllister, at the home of the parents, last Sunday. Godparents are Mr. and Mrs. Myron Ashton of New Westminster. Following the ceremony, a christening tea was held for relatives and friends. The baby's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Sloan, 940 Bay street, Victoria. (Photo by Jus-Rite Studio.)

Riding Habit Gives Lines To New French Fashions

PARIS (Reuters)—Longer hemlines and daytime motifs inspired by riding habits featured the fall fashion collection shown Thursday by Jeanne Lanvin.

Hemlines go from 13 inches for day wear to 11 inches above the ground for afternoon wear. The daytime theme developed what was termed the "shipline."

Heirloom 'Something Old' Worn At Recent Double-Ring Ceremony

Miss Mary Adele Stonehouse was a charming bride as she entered St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, for her wedding to Christopher Laurence Woodward, Archdeacon A. E. deL Nunn officiated.

For the double-ring ceremony, the bride chose a strapless waltz-length gown of nylon net appliqued with Chantilly lace motifs over taffeta. Her jacket of matching lace featured lily point sleeves and a princess collar. A shell bonnet of Chantilly lace embroidered with seed pearls held her chapel length veil of nylon illusion net. Red roses and stephanotis were in her cascade bouquet, and to complete her ensemble, she wore a gold heirloom bracelet which had belonged to her maternal great-grandmother.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Stonehouse, 1729 Hampshire Road and her groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Woodward, 2785 Dufferin Avenue.

Maid of honor, Miss Norah MacLennan, wore an ice-blue antique taffeta two-piece dress with a bouffant skirt and bateau neckline with white accessories. Junior bridesmaid, Miss Joyce Stonehouse, was gowned in a pink textured taffeta dress with low waistline, bouffant skirt and scooped neckline. She wore white accessories. Both attendants carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations, pink rosebuds and yellow marguerites, tied with ribbons on tone with their gowns.

Best man was Phillippe Poole, and ushers, Alan Stonehouse and Dennis Poole.

A reception followed at the bride's parents' home, 1829 Birchwood Apartments.

Equal Pay Bill in United States Lags Because Co-Operation Is Lacking

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If American women could only agree on how to do things, the poor men wouldn't stand a chance. Take federal equal-pay-for-women legislation — a pet project of feminists for many years.

There's hardly a professional or working gal who isn't strongly in favor of it, but as yet nothing has been done. And it looks as if it will be quite a while before anything is done. One trouble is the ladies can't seem to climb on the same bandwagon. An example of this is in Capitol Hill where 16 female lawmakers haven't been able to toss aside individual opinions and co-operate on equal-pay legislation.

The latest effort to get the gals in Congress together is being made by Rep. Edith Green (D-Ore.). This gentle-mannered, former schoolteacher recently threw a not too gentle equal-pay bill in the hopper and then asked her female colleagues for support.

"I think it would have a tremendous impact if all the women in Congress took a unified position on equal pay," said Mrs. Green. "It would be sure to have a great influence on the other members."

Mrs. Green won the backing of seven out of eight other Democratic women in the House. But on the opposite side of the aisle, the only woman to step forward was Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass.), who introduced identical legislation.

What the Green bill basically adds up to is this: If an employer engaged in interstate commerce or in operations affecting interstate commerce hires a man and a woman to do work of comparable character requiring comparable skills, then each shall be paid the same wage.

Any employer who violates this rule would be liable in court to reimburse the affected employee for the amount due, plus an equal amount for damages. The bill is set up to be administered by the Secretary of Labor.

"In effect, it would prohibit using a 36-inch yardstick on a man's job while a 33-inch yardstick is used for a woman employee," says Mrs. Green. "It's designed to remove serious injustice to both men and women workers in our nation."

"In fields such as manufacturing, office work, communications, teaching and service occupations, there is still far too much wage rate discrimination against women workers. It is more than just a coincidence that women have lower salaries on the average than men of comparable age and education in the same type of employment."

During the last session of Congress, Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio) introduced an equal-pay bill much the same as Mrs. Green's, but she was never able to get it going. No Congresswoman came to her assistance or offered help, and the bill was never reported out of the House Education and Labor Committee.

This is not to say that she was entirely without backing. For the Secretary of Labor publicly endorsed the bill, but beyond that the administration dragged its feet.

Rep. Edith Green (D-Ore.) sits at her desk at the House Office Building in Washington. Around her are representatives of the National Equal Pay Committee.

Another proponent of Mrs. Bolton's bill was the National Committee for Equal Pay, which is composed mainly of leading women's organizations like the National Association of Women Lawyers, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women and the American Association of University Women.

At the present time, however, the committee is a bit peeved at Representative Bolton, for this year she decided the Labor Department should conduct a study into the situation before an attempt is made to pass such legislation. She has introduced a bill giving the Labor Secretary such authority.

"We need to know the possible effects on wage scales. We need to know the psychological effect of the discrimination that now exists. We need to know how effective state legislation has been in dealing with the problem," explains Mrs. Bolton.

"You may be interested to know that nobody is really against equal pay," she adds. "There is just a great deal of difference of opinion as to how it can be worked out."

One different opinion comes immediately from the Equal

Wedding Held in Bellingham

Following a honeymoon traveling through the States, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Graham will make their home in Bellingham, Wash., in a quiet morning ceremony. Rev. Lawrence officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white lace ball-train-length gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and short sleeves, complemented by long white lace gloves. Her shoulder-length veil of net and lace was caught to a Juliet cap of matching lace, and her bouquet was of red roses and stephanotis.

As her only attendant, the bride chose Miss Virginia Dalby, Victoria, maid of honor. She wore a white floral print street-length dress with white accessories and a faint white hat, and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses. Best man was James Baxter, Vancouver, B.C.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was held at Snyder House for the wedding party and the bride's parents. Mrs. Graham left on honeymoon wearing a flowered dress with white accessories and a flower bandeau in her hair. Her corsage was of red roses and stephanotis.

Japan first granted the vote to women, 20 and over, in 1946.

TANTALIZING NEWS

'Tunic Line' Popular In Fur Coat Trends

Coupled with the announcement that Victoria's leading dealers in fine furs have taken membership in the British Columbia Fur Trade Association is the tantalizing news of autumn trends in fur styles.

Furs already being shown for fall and winter of 1955 are wonderfully exciting with high-style cut into every coat, whether slim or fitted silhouette. Many new coats favor the "tunic" line, or have peplum treatments.

Collars particularly are dramatic, often pleated, picture-framing, Elizabethan or Directoire. There are even deep shawl collars often of contrasting fur, to give a decidedly new effect to this year's fur coats.

HAND-PAINTED

There's drama too, in the new linings, always colorful and often luxurious of gold brocade and some, even hand-painted. Flowered jacquards are going to be popular, too, giving a nice swish of elegance when the fur coat is removed.

While Canadian wild mink predominates in early high-style fur presentations, there are many other beautiful rich pelts, such as black Alaska seal, Persian lamb, Canadian squirrel, black broadtail, wonderful muskrats, beaver and raccoon. There are many mutations of Canadian mink, too, as well as imported China mink.

New shades of beaver are shown under such names as toasted amber, charcoal and banker's grey. There is a hint, too, that black and white furs will add excitement to the winter scene.

Fur accessories—muffs, bags and new stoles of mink, fox and squirrel—are also included in the winter selections.

SYNTHETIC FURS

A glimpse of furs for fall would not be complete without a look at the family of synthetic furs in the lower-priced group. Many resemble leopard and broadtail, while other synthetic furs look like the sheared beaver used for stoles, capes, collars and sometimes linings. And for special glamour or when you are in colorful mood word comes from New York that soon there will be blue, wine, cardinal and flamingo red, bottle green, gold and café au lait furs.

In Honor Of the Bride

Miss Jacquelyn Freer was hostess at her home, 910 Transit road recently with a miscellaneous shower in honor of bride-elect Miss Pauline Hoffer, who will be married early in August. The guest of honor received a corsage of yellow carnations, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. E. Espley, received red roses. The many gifts were concealed in a wishing well. Among guests present were Mrs. G. Takacs, Mrs. P. Birkett, Mrs. P. Brazier, Mrs. Y. Finnie, Mrs. D. Pearce, Mrs. J. Crosby, Mrs. E. Hess, Mrs. M. Rowe, Mrs. E. Murray, Mrs. E. Brown and Miss Shirley Womersley.

Mrs. R. L. Purser, the former Miss Marlene Pearce, was honored with a grocery shower recently given by Mrs. J. Bridges and Miss Joan Oldnall at the latter's home, 901 Hereward Road. The guest of honor was presented with a corsage of white gladioli, and her mother, Mrs. D. M. Pearce, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. R. Purser, received yellow and red gladioli, respectively. Gifts were wheeled into the room in a gaily decorated shopping buggy by little Miss Lorraine Bridges assisted by Miss Marion Oldnall and Miss Winona Butler. Invited guests were Mrs. F. Dewhurst, Mrs. W. P. Trace, Mrs. P. Willis, Mrs. A. E. Oldnall, Mrs. V. Butler, Mrs. W. Prior, Misses Betty Jackson, Florence Dewhurst and Margaret Willis.

Mrs. C. M. Martin was hostess at her Tudor Road home Wednesday afternoon with a tea in honor of her future daughter-in-law, Miss Maureen Scoular. Pink rosebuds centred the ecrusse lace-covered tea table. Among invited guests were Mrs. G. Scoular, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. J. Moore, Mrs. E. J. Harwood, Mrs. E. H. Livingston, Mrs. G. A. Lauder, Mrs. V. Tierney, Mrs. A. L. Young, Mrs. C. B. Smith from Squamish, B.C., and Misses Ariene and Penny Scoular.

Plastic Bags

For Picnic Days

Polythene grocery bags filled with lettuce, tomatoes, hard-boiled eggs and green onions carry all the makings for sandwiches and salads. After that it's "each man for himself."

To keep food and drink cold, fill plastic bags with ice cubes and pack around bottles and food containers. Be sure the bags are tightly closed and leak-proof.

Thermos bottles are indispensable for hot liquids. Those with polythene caps that house nests of cups prevent burned fingers and lips when drinking hot tea or coffee. Plastic fizz caps keep carbonated drinks from losing their zip once the bottle has been opened.

Those who are disturbed by the rattle of dishes in the picnic hamper will find polythene containers silent as well as unbreakable. Now on the market are plates with neat dividers, as well as many sizes in the familiar polythene tumblers.

CANADIAN FURS BIG HIT AT WORLD FASHION SHOWS

Canadian furs are coming into their own! Today, nothing can touch Canadian wild mink—the best in the world, from mink farms in Newfoundland to Vancouver Island. The Canadian beaver, muskrat, otter, raccoon and seal are also among the world's most sought-after furs, and the Canadian Arctic fox, longer-haired and more luxurious and warm than any found elsewhere.

Improved dye techniques to insure color fastness, and top-designer stylings add the final seal of approval. This year the finest collection of Canadian furs was taken abroad to leading fashion centres to be shown to world-famed couturiers for forthcoming fall and winter collections.

During these showings more than 500,000 visitors flocked to the exhibit stands and all went into raptures over the richness of Canadian pelts.

Announcing our membership in THE BRITISH COLUMBIA FUR TRADE ASSOCIATION

Pledged to a code of ethics worthy of the trade and organized on a sound basis so the fur industry can look to the future with confidence.

The Fur Trade played a leading role in the initial development of British Columbia, and is still playing an important part in our economy today.

The Fur Trade will always be an important part of our economy because women who appreciate good appearance combined with quality and economy will always wear furs. The lady in furs is beautifully dressed—but more than that, she is economically dressed because of the wearing qualities of furs and, in addition, she owns an investment in an important basic industry. Her furs are one of the finest assets she possesses.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

SATURDAY, JULY 30, 1955

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)-Leave no person, place, periodical alone if you are able to gain additional knowledge, worthwhile convictions and precepts from them. This is your time to open your mind to receive new data that can enlarge the scope of life.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)-Talking over with associates not usually available during busy week how you can secure greater progress brings out meeting of minds you had not realized existed between you and the others. Make concrete future plans now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)-This is your day to dash about in all directions, albeit well-planned, to see and thrust out any differences of opinion with others. Pretty nearly everyone is in talky mood. So you find out where you stand. Be adroit.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)-Take this week-end to yet your surroundings in good shape-especially all that is connected with pets, garden, furnishing, sports, traveling, hobbies, health. Seek way to have more efficiency also. Look at other ideas.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)-Now you really can satisfy your pride by going to beauty salon, barber shop, manicurist, etc. of your choice. Enhance your physical charm, your mental ideas. Let others see your best points. P.M. be gracious to attachment.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)-At last you have chance to fix up your home. This applies not only to making it more comfortable. See also that your plumbing, utilities, machinery, car, etc. are in perfect condition. P.M. entertain at home.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)-Get in supplies, fix transportation needs, think out ways to put more zest, fascinations in your everyday dealings. Study whatever you wish to retain in your memory. P.M., fine for enjoying kin, close neighbors.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)-Have you paid, all those bills, collected amounts owed you, attended to insurance needs, painted and repaired and otherwise enhanced value of your assets? If not, this is YOUR day to do that. Get better budget worked out.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)-Now you have a chance to get out and visit those places, persons who are not usually available for extended chat, visit during busy week days. You can gain much of worth by now taking time out to chat with them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)-Tackle that mountain of tedious toil awaiting your attention with real character. It is soon behind you and you have a chance to let others see that you have what it takes to be worthy of their support, backing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)-Your hopes, wishes are easily procured now. It merely takes some very positive, definite, forthrightful actions by you to make them part of your everyday life. This applies to persons you desire as friends, too.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)-Have you attended all public duties, patriotic expressions, vocational responsibilities as your boss or higher-ups you respect would admire? This is fine day for you to come to new height in worldly acclaim from those in power.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SATURDAY

Saturday's child is one of those very direct and outspoken youngsters who will need to be taught in early life that one can be honest without so speaking the truth that it hurts others' feelings. However, this child will enjoy the outdoors, will need a considerable amount of exercise and fresh air from earliest days. It is a very good chart for one who comes before the general public to bring a better way of life. So early give your talented child as fine a training and education for such a vocation as you can.

SUNDAY, JULY 31, 1955

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)-Thinking out ways to have more worldly success requires you follow proven principles to greater extent than in past. Seek out ways to do just this by attending services of your choice, then trying out advice promulgated there.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)-Listening early to down-to-earth spiritual adviser reveals plans for which you have been seeking but which has eluded you are this. Make sure you do put into immediate execution if you want practical benefits to follow.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)-Listening to your intuitions instead of allowing your restless mind to roam all over wide range of objective ideas produces fine hunch you can put in effect at once. P.M., enjoy long-time congenial, romantic life.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)-This is your day to seek out most serious, practical-minded persons you know. Get them to tell you how they have become successful in dealing with others. Then try out recommendations that fit your own life.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)-Make your surroundings more harmonious on this day of rest so that there will be dissolved any adverse conditions. This requires some deep thought, especially in seeing other fellow's viewpoint, but can be easily done NOW.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)-Now you have a day when you can't catch the spirit of joy, happiness for which you have been seeking. Stop concentrating on troubles. Let yourself have some fun today. Make sure you show attachment your affection.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)-This is fine time to get home and family affairs in better condition. Replace urge to dash in all directions by critically looking over objects at home. Get them in efficient, comfortable order. This shows family you seek their welfare and more blessings flow your way.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)-Your mind is overflowing with all kinds of right ideas for increasing your support from those of influence, who have made success of life, understand your fine qualities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)-Studying your inherited background, experiences from the past of practical nature reveal how you can reinstate them in present crises, perplexities. Make sure you are basically sound. Then act with decisiveness.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)-Now you have day to see during a.m., exactly where you stand, to make plans for future advancement, progress. Rest of day fine for social contact as well as letting others know of your desires. Be specific. Draw diagrams. . .

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)-If you are going to help others with their problems, it's necessary you have the wherewithal, time, ability to do so. This is your day to withdraw, to look yourself over, make changes necessary to advance to greater success.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)-Very good friends who are stalwart, sturdy in their continuing support have some excellent recommendation for you. Stop being so personal. Listen to understand their suggestions. Then try them out. Then you win out.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SUNDAY

Sunday's child is one of those unusual youngsters who, even in early life, will sit back and analyze and think out the material and practical phases of any plan to action before plunging into it. It is therefore wise to give your offspring an early, very good basic training in both theory and the practical phases of modern finance and business, for you too can develop into a tycoon of large interest whether a boy or a girl. However, never criticize, for you gain your point by praise and expecting the best from your progeny.

Store officials termed the display "the best of its kind we have ever had."

Highlight of the display were photographs by Bernard H. Atkins of Victoria which won him awards for commercial prints and top place in the illustration class among more than 600 entrants in the recent Toronto judging.

The exhibition, which has been seen in 12 Canadian cities, includes news, publicity, commercial and color photographs. It will be on display at Eaton's until next Wednesday.

Joan Crawford To Rejoin Son

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Actress Joan Crawford today planned an early reunion with her adopted son who has been AWOL from his military school four times since she began an extended honeymoon with soft drink executive Alfred Steele.

Miss Crawford, who is now in New York, said she would return to Hollywood "probably next week," when informed the boy, Christopher Crawford, 12, as homesick and lonely for her.

ARAB ACTRESS WINS

Poor Weather Again Delays Marilyn Bell

FOLKESTONE, Eng. (UP)—Marilyn Bell postponed her proposed swim across the English Channel from France to England again today because of heavy surf and unfavorable weather on the French coast.

The 17-year-old Canadian blonde had planned to slip into the water near Cap Gris Nez early Saturday morning, but a postponement of at least 24 hours was announced by her veteran pilot, John Burwill.

Old salts along the white cliffs here said the most favorable weather for a swim would end Saturday night with the passing of the neap tides, but Burwill said he feels the crossing can be successful any time through Wednesday.

After that the Channel is regarded as unswimmable until August 11, when American Florence Chadwick plans to try the tougher England to France route for which she holds the all-comers' record.

Giese Beaten Again By Cramps in Leg

Beaten by a cramp in his left leg "like a piece of iron," German immigrant John Giese made his last unsuccessful attempt to swim Juan de Fuca Strait Thursday night from Gonzales Point.

"I guess I just haven't got what it takes," the 25-year-old swimmer said after coming out of the water on his fourth try since April.

He is the second Strait challenger to admit superiority of the cruel sea. After two tries, Mrs. Ann Meraw, 36, also confessed she was no match for the Strait.

Swimming strongly in a near-flat calm, Giese covered about three miles from his take-off spot in one hour and 45 minutes before giving up at 10:36 p.m., roughly a mile south-southeast of Trial Island.

QUICK CRAMPS

"There's no sense trying again if I get cramps in such a short time," he said. "It would be different if I was a millionaire."

Cramps forced him out of the water on his second try, rough water on his third. The first time he was taken out in a near-unconscious state due to the cold.

The strong ebb tide which was to carry Giese in a wide arc toward Port Angeles was due to start at about 11:30.

Giese got his first cramp at 9:56, exactly an hour before the end. He was able to shake it sufficiently to carry on his stroke, but it never quite left him and moved upward into his thigh. The right calf was also affected.

The former Vancouver laborer said he will leave Victoria soon with his wife Evelyn to take a packinghouse job in Summerland.

ROYAL NAVY TEST

Free-for-All Channel Swim In Two Weeks

FOLKESTONE, England (Reuters)—The 1955 Channel swimming season, will be climaxed in two weeks with a mass race from France to England.

The youngest of the athletes from 16 nations will be Edna Dorestein, 18, of the Israeli Air Force. The oldest will be a 58-year-old Englishman, William Barnie, who has traversed the channel both ways in one season.

The mass race swimmers will also serve as "guinea-pigs" for the British Admiralty research project.

Before they plunge into the water just before midnight, August 10, navy specialists will check them. They will be tailed by a naval launch carrying a team of doctors led by Dr. O. G. Edholm and Dr. Griffiths Pugh, who took part in the Mt. Everest expedition.

It is hoped the experiment will help the navy in treating fliers or shipwrecked men exposed to sea water for long periods, and in arranging protective equipment.

The race is sponsored by vacation camp tycoon Billy Butlin.

It has been estimated that the undeveloped coal lands of New Mexico contain 192,000,000,000 tons.

The colonel, who lives at 1154 Old Esquimalt Road, arrived in the city Wednesday to begin 60 days' leave in initial rotation of commission delegates.

Major J. Bridges, 1 Cook, is expected to return here Monday after his tour of the Far East.

Concern is felt in the east with free elections coming up in Indo-China because of divisions there created by Viet Nam, he said.

HUMAN CANNONBALL—Hugo Zacchini, the human cannonball, provided one of the spectacular moments in the Clyde Beatty Circus, when he is shot from a huge cannon. Zacchini, who travels the length of the "big top," is said to gain a speed of 100 miles an hour as he leaves the cannon's mouth. The circus, with Clyde Beatty in person, comes to Victoria next Wednesday and Thursday for performances each day at 2:30 and 8 p.m. in Victoria West Park.

Tug-Barge to Take Traffic Across Fraser at Mission

B.C. government will pay $305,000 a day for a tug-boat combination to ferry traffic across the Fraser River at Mission where a CPR bridge washed out last week. Service started today.

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi said the 90-foot barge, and 240 horsepower tug will provide "continuous service if necessary" between 7 a.m. and 12 midnight.

The tug-boat ferry will haul about 20 cars and foot passengers. Mr. Gagliardi said the traffic count on the washed out bridge was 3,300 vehicles a day.

If the CPR takes six weeks to repair the crossing, as announced, cost of the emergency service will run as high as $12,810.

Deserter Caught After New Life Built

25-Year Sentence Despite Petition

NEW YORK (UP)—A GI who borrowed a name, built a thriving business and reared a devoted family during an 11-year period, today began serving a 25-year sentence for desertion from the army in wartime.

The GI, Pvt. Arthur Athans, was sentenced by a court-martial Thursday after pleading guilty to the desertion charge.

He left behind a sobbing wife and five children who learned his true identity only after his arrest on May 18.

Athans deserted from the army on Dec. 7, 1944, while serving a five-year sentence at Fort Knox, Ky., for being absent without leave for the third time.

He worked as a farm laborer for a year and then settled in Levant, N.Y., where he took the name Joseph Trainer and went to work as a mechanic.

In 1946 Trainer married and founded the "evant Motor Sales Co. in Jamestown. The business flourished. As Joseph Trainer, Athans became a respected member of the community. He had five children who now range in age from eight years to 20 months.

"I couldn't wish for a better husband," said his wife, Marjorie, at the time Athans was sentenced. She gave her name as "Mrs. Trainer."

KNOCKED FOR METER-WATCHING

Police Chief to Investigate Eager-Beaver Commissionaires

Members of the Corps of Commissionaires, who now patrol city parking meters, Thursday were accused of standing by meters waiting for the red flag violation to come up.

Police Commissioner William Hamilton, at a regular meeting, launched the criticism which resulted in Chief John Blackstock being instructed to investigate the complaints.

The commissioner also said he has information that parking tickets have been handed out while drivers were seeking change for the meter in nearby stores.

The chief said he'd been informed of one case of manhandling.

BOUQUETS TOO

At the same time the commission complimented the commissionaires after receiving a letter praising their courtesy. It was from a driver who had received a yellow warning card instead of a ticket when he had overparked.

Ottawa-to-London Jet Mark Confirmed

LONDON (Reuters)—The Ottawa-to-London record set this month by an RAF Canberra jet bomber has been officially confirmed by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, the British Royal Aero Club announced Thursday night. The flight was made in six hours, 42 minutes, 12 seconds at an average speed of 496.825 miles an hour.

Chief Blackstock was upheld by the commission when he objected to a request that the city engineer be given a record of tickets paid at the police station, and those which result in summonses. The engineer asked also for explanation of instances when tickets are issued but are later withdrawn.

"That is no concern of the engineer's department. The chief is responsible to this commission," said Commissioner Hamilton.

When the Corps of Commissionaires took over meters it was on the basis that they would be paid by the city engineer's department but be under direction of the chief of police.

U.S. Plans To Launch 'Satellite'

Man-Made 'Moon' Would Circle Earth 2 to 3 Hundred Miles Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today approved plans for building and launching the world's first man-made satellites.

They would be the size of basketballs and carry only instruments for collecting scientific information.

Tension Grows As Crisis Brews In Argentina

Admiral Reported Sentenced to Die

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—A new Argentine crisis seemed to be brewing today after unconfirmed reports spread through the capital that Admiral Samuel Toranzo Calderon had been sentenced to death for leading the anti-Peron revolt of June 16.

Reports said a military tribunal also sentenced the former navy minister, Rear-Admiral Anibal Olivieri, and other revolutionary leaders to life imprisonment for taking part in the bloody uprising, in which more than 2,000 civilians were killed and wounded.

MAY CAUSE NEW CRISIS

Observers here said that if the reported death sentence of Calderon is confirmed and eventually carried out, it will give rise to a new crisis in the tension that has reigned in Argentina since June 16.

Another bomb exploded Thursday in Cordoba City, the Catholic stronghold where police have recently been disbanding both Peronista and anti-Peronista demonstrations. The blast caused considerable damage to a Peronista party branch office, but there were no casualties.

Meanwhile, Arturo Frondizi, the leader of the Radical party, was questioned Thursday by judge Carlos Gentile about his radio broadcast Wednesday night—the first by an opposition member since 1946.

Frondizi was allowed to go home after answering questions about his broadcast remark that "the country needs judges without political affiliations who will safeguard the rights of all inhabitants."

One of Argentina's most famous political prisoners, Cipriano Reyes, remained in prison today after demanding complete freedom instead of the probationary liberty offered him earlier.

After seven years' imprisonment he still has another six months to go before completing his sentence for conspiring against President Juan Peron's life. A former union leader who helped Peron to power, he was arrested in 1948 after a shooting incident in which he nearly lost his life.

Sinclair 'Cleared'

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Hon. James Sinclair, Canadian minister of fisheries, today was granted Russian permission to visit the Pacific port of Vladivostok, normally a "forbidden city" to foreigners. Sinclair leaves by air for Vladivostok Saturday.

McEWEN BACKS DOWN

Doesn't Want To Involve Others In Allegations

City mayoralty candidate Elmer McEwen, who startled Victoria with allegations Thursday of corruption in city police administration, said today he will not provide specific information to back up his statements.

"What information I have is already known to the police commission," he told the Times.

It was reported earlier that he was ready to give the police commission information about illegal pinball machines and bookmaking operations here.

"It is not my intention to hurt or slander anyone nor to get cheap publicity. I can't possibly give information regarding the officer (who said he was told to 'lay off' certain illegal operations)."

INVOLVES OTHERS

He said that the information he had received of protection pay-off to police by a city Chinese "involves other people. It is better not to involve them."

He said his concern was still as great for youngsters who are playing pin-ball machines and receiving money for wins. "They aren't old enough to know what they are doing. It could lead to stealing and other delinquencies."

"The people who play the bookies are old enough to know what they are doing. It's up to them."

He said he had not yet prepared an answer to a letter reported to have been sent to him by the Victoria police commission following a meeting Thursday.

NOT MISQUOTED
The letter allegedly asked him whether he was responsible for newspaper quotes attributed to him. He told reporters he was misquoting.

He knows the location of six or seven bookmakers and of pinball machines which are allegedly paying off, he added. But, he said, the commission already has that information.

His outburst caused indignation among members of the force and the police commission. Mayor Claude Harrison, chairman of the commission, declared that if Mr. McEwen had any proof, he should bring it forward.

"Anyone who knows of an indictable offence such as bribery among officers is himself guilty if he doesn't bring it before the crown," the mayor said.

TOLD WORLD HEATING UP WEATHERMAN SAYS 'OH'

TOKYO (AP)—A sweltering world got a bad news prediction today from a Japanese scientist.

Dr. Hideo Nishioka, science instructor at Tokyo's Kei University, said world temperatures will get hotter every year for the next 250 years.

His prediction was based on his theory that general climatic changes occur in 700-year cycles and that the world now is in a temperature-climbing period.

Victoria's weatherman Bill Mackie, who has been predicting Victoria through a not-so-heat-wave summer, was asked to comment on the above dispatch. His comment: "Oh?"

Saanich Hides Track Petition Mayor Charges

Plea by 1,500 Property Owners Favoring Site Claimed Ignored

A petition said to contain close to 1,500 names of property holders in Saanich supporting a race track at Beaver Lake is being "hidden" by Saanich council, it was charged at Victoria City Hall today.

Mayor Claude Harrison and Alderman Geoffrey Edgell told the Times the petition was presented to Saanich clerk John Tribe "about six weeks ago." It was presented by Don Carley, proprietor of Victoria Riding Academy.

The mayor and alderman said they were told at Saanich Municipal Hall that the petition was "to be filed until the matter became a main issue again."

"There's the milk in the coconuts," said Mayor Harrison. He asked why it was Saanich council was heading petitions against the racetrack when they represented a minority. (It has been estimated that at the most, petitioners against the proposed track—from Saanich and Prospect Lake number 500.)

Follow Minority Says Mayor
"They won't follow a majority but they'll follow a minority," he added.

The disclosure followed a stormy meeting on the racetrack at City Hall Thursday by the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee.

The committee, comprised of four city and four Saanich representatives, were to discuss a recent proposal of the Vancouver track builders, Island Turf Ltd.

Saanich had balked at earlier proposals after the city had drawn a tentative agreement to permit the $500,000 track and fair-construction on the Beaver-Elk watershed. The land is owned by the city, although it lies completely in Saanich.

Ald. Smith's Motion Thrown Out
The committee threw out a motion by Ald. Smith that they recommend to both councils a plebiscite asking whether residents favored a race track, a park and a Class A fair. He said the people would settle the controversy once and for all.

The mayor said the discussion was absolutely useless as the committee had power only to regulate the use of the Beaver-Elk Lake park. The motion was lost. Then the mayor moved that Island Turf be granted a lease on the terms the firm suggested.

This motion too was lost. The committee could not even agree on adjournment and four motions to adjourn were made before the meeting broke up after two hours of wrangling and no decisions reached.

U.S. Senate Praises Churchill
WASHINGTON—The Senate Thursday officially praised Sir Winston Churchill for his "outstanding contribution" to the cause of freedom and world peace.

By voice vote, the Senate passed unanimously a resolution expressing "high appreciation of the outstanding contribution this truly great statesman has made to the cause of freedom and his tireless efforts in behalf of world peace."

The proposal was submitted by Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) and was sponsored by 51 other senators.

It also expresses the Senate's "profound hope" that the recently-retired British prime minister "may be spared for many more years of useful and honorable service."

A copy of the resolution will be sent to Churchill.

Israel Team Barred From Crash Scene

ATHENS, Greece (UP)—The Israeli charge d'affaires in Sofia, capital of Communist Bulgaria, today visited the scene of the crash of an El Al (Israel) airliner in which 58 persons died when the plane was shot down by Bulgarian anti-aircraft guns.

But Bulgarian frontier guards stubbornly barred an official Israeli investigation team from entering the crash area from nearby Greece.

Three and possibly four of the victims were Canadians, and 13 were Americans. Canada has demanded full details of the crash and the United States and Britain were reported preparing their own protests.

Authorities here said no reports have yet been received from the Israeli diplomat who was permitted to go to the scene of Wednesday's disaster.

Air authorities in London predicted international anger resulting from the incident may force Russia and her satellites to join in a new international agreement to forestall such needless loss of life in the future.

Reporter Gave Him 'Suicide or Jail' Choice Policeman Says

By LARRY STANWOOD, Canadian Press Staff Writer
VANCOUVER (CP)—A dramatic interview with Ray Munro, western representative of the Toronto tabloid Flash, was recounted today by Det.-Sgt. Len Cuthbert at the Tupper Royal Commission.

"You're stuck Len, you're in bad trouble," he said Munro told him during the interview at the police officer's modest home.

Munro, he said, balanced a black automatic in the palm of his hand throughout the interview.

Cuthbert, taking the stand for the second day, said Munro told him he had three choices: "I could either blow my brains out..."

At this point he was interrupted by his counsel, H. A. D. Oliver, who asked: "Did he use an adjective?"

"...he said 'you can either blow your bloody brains out or you can go to jail or you can see the right party now', I asked him who he meant."

Reporter Held Gun; Made No Move

Cuthbert said that during the interview with Munro the reporter had the gun "sufficiently far away..."

"He didn't make any move, and I didn't. Anyway he knew I had a gun of my own."

Munro, said the witness, reminded him of the "1949 affair," meaning the payoffs.

"He said he was working for Flash, a Vancouver newspaper—I believe he said the Province—and working for the attorney-general."

Later in the interview, Munro suggested that Cuthbert see the reporter's lawyer "and make out an affidavit if you wish."

"He said the lawyer, Nell Fleishman, was working with him for the attorney-general. It had to be done within an hour."

Mr. Fleishman is counsel for Munro and former detective Jack Whalen.

"What effect did Mr. Munro's actions and words have on you," asked Mr. Oliver.

"It was quite upsetting," replied Cuthbert.

"Before he left Mr. Munro said 'Len, don't be a fool, this is your chance, your last chance.'"

T. G. Norris QC, counsel for suspended Vancouver Police Chief Mulligan was prepared today to "cross-examine" Det. Sgt. Cuthbert on his testimony implicating Mulligan before the Tupper Royal Commission in the mainland metropolis. Cuthbert's counsel had asked other lawyers to deal easily with his client. U.S. Plans to Launch
Man-Made 'Satellites'

Would Circle Earth 2 to 3 Hundred Miles Up; Expected to Be Ready by 1957

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today approved plans for building and launching the world's first man-made satellites.

They would be the size of basketballs and carry only instruments for collecting scientific information.

Still in the planning stage, government scientists say they think the first satellite can be launched in two years.

"The announcement was made at a White House press conference held by James Hagerty, presidential press secretary, after the president had left for his country home at Gettysburg, Pa. A group of scientists attended."

Government scientists explained the thought is that one or more of the space objects would circle the earth 200 or 300 miles up at a speed of 18,000 m.p.h. They might remain for days or weeks, then fall back down and disintegrate.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Former attorney-general of B.C. Gordon Wismer, was never mentioned by Det. Sgt. Len Cuthbert in connection with alleged corruption in Vancouver's police force, the key witness today told the Royal commission hearing.

Witness Faces
Indictment

VANCOUVER (CP)—A protest against reported action of the Vancouver police commission in seeking information on the possibility of laying a charge against former city detective Jack Whelan was made today before the Tupper royal commission.

"My client now is in the position of being a witness with an indictment facing him," said lawyer Neil Fleishman.

Mr. Fleishman, who also is counsel for Ray Munro, West Coast representative of the tabloid Flash, said it was reported that the commission had instructed acting police chief Allan Rossiter to investigate and see if charges could be brought against Whelan.

At an earlier session of the commission, Whelan accused chief Walter Mulligan of a piggy bank robbery when $22 was taken during a house burglary investigation. He said they split the money. Mulligan was a detective at the time, 10 years ago.

Whelan, who said he quit the force "under pressure," is a brother of Supt. Harry Whelan of the uniform branch.

T. G. Norris QC, counsel for suspended Vancouver Police Chief Mulligan was prepared today to "cross-examine" Det. Sgt. Cuthbert on his testimony implicating Mulligan before the Tupper Royal Commission in the mainland metropolis.

Cuthbert's counsel had asked other lawyers to deal easily with his client. (See Thursday testimony, Page 6.)

Slated to testify at Vancouver police probe is former Mayor Charles Thompson. He headed the police board in 1949 when Det. Sgt. Len Cuthbert submitted a 14-page document telling of police payoffs.

"You should know," he said. Just prior to adjournment, Sgt. Cuthbert spoke of a demand for a cut in the payoff money made, he said, by Insp. Jack Horton on behalf of himself and Insp. Gordon Ambrose in 1949.

Horton now is superintendent of detectives and Ambrose is deputy chief. The hearings re-open Monday morning.

Cuthbert is recovering from a gunshot wound which police say was self-inflicted June 24 about a week after the interview with Munro. He was brought from hospital to testify.

The Royal Commission was touched off by Cuthbert's attempted suicide in the police station and a series of articles in Flash alleging corruption in Vancouver's police force.

Cuthbert told Thursday of underworld payoffs in which he said Chief Mulligan shared during a six-week period in 1949.

Cuthbert said that during the interview with Munro the reporter had the gun "sufficiently far away . . ."
